Stocks Reach New Highs For Year On Active Market

4,000,000 SHARES ARE SOLD TODAY

Tickers Run Eight Minutes Behind at Opening When Buying Gluts Market

BONDS MOVE UPWARD

Grains Make Gains While Cotton Steady; Steel in Demand and Moves Up

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(UP)—
Inspired by the previous advance which carried average through previous resistance levels the stock market today was carried up 1 to 5 points in turnover that exceeded 4,000,000 shares.
Gains were reduced by late profit taking.

Orders piled up overnight and when they were executed at the opening tickers were glutted, behind eight minutes behind the market which for a time ran at a pace of 8,000,000 shares for a full day. Sales at noon totaled 2-400,000 shares or at a 6,000,000 share rate. Then profit taking came into the list and volume shrank.

The afternoon was marked by several periods of selling. On each the market rallied and regained most of the losses. Toward the close a sharp upturn was in progress followed by further realizing.
Most issues closed above their yesterday's levels, however.

Bonds were whirled up to new highs for the year in the averages with volume around $19,000-000 par value for the day. The heaviest of the year. They, too, were meeting profit taking selling late in the day, but substantial gains were retained.

Grains closed with fractional gains, while cotton was steady around the previous close. Other commodities were steady to firm with rubber several points higher.
Steel Common began at its high of 45. It quickly advanced and the whole market followed. American Telephone crossed 118 for the first time on this recovery, and a long list of other shares made substantial gains.

Western Union reached 40 where it was up 5 1-2 and held most of this rise. International Telephone was active.

PRUNE POOL NEARS COMPLETION TODAY

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 23.—
(UP)—California's prune pool drive appeared to be nearing success today as directors of the movement continued checking last-minute contracts, riders and waivers to determine the exact tonnage pledged to the crop control plan.

Tabulation of returns was not expected to be completed until late in the afternoon, when the final report was to be presented to the directors.

The pool set 170,000 tons as its goal, and was said to be only a few hundred tons short of that mark today. Exact figures were not available, however, because of the waivers that continued to arrive and had to be checked.

THREE PLANES TAKE OFF FOR OCEAN FLIGHT

Thirteen Start From Gotham on First Leg; Race May Develop

BY UNITED PRESS
THE NORTH ATLANTIC, already crossed by airplane at least a score of times, today drew further aeronautic endeavor with the possibility of a race over the hazardous course.

Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen left New York for Harbor Grace, N. F., where they will take off for Oslo, Norway. A few hours later
Clyde Lee and John Beckholm left Barre, Vt., also for Harbor Grace where they will start to Oslo.

There was a possibility the two craft might race over the course for the honor of the first arrival in the Norwegian capital.

The Hutchinson family—George, wife and two children—left New York for St. Johns, N. B., on a leisurely trans-Atlantic crossing to London. They plan stops in Iceland and Greenland.

Captain James A. Mollison, who last week flew from Iceland to New Brunswick, was in New York preparing to fly back to England.
He hopes to get away this week.

Also in New York, Ruth Nichols was preparing her new plane for a "long distance flight, the destination so far unrevealed.

Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, who recently made his third North Atlantic crossing via Iceland and Greenland, waited at Juneau, Alaska, for clearing weather to permit him to continue across the Pacific.

Also on the west coast was Amelia Earhart, who twice has flown the Atlantic, once solo, now preparing for a fast trans-continental dash from Los Angeles.

Cleveland, O., fast was becoming the aviation center of the nation on the eve of the National Air Races. Two groups of racers now are enroute to Cleveland. One group left Atlanta, Ga., today for Birmingham, Ala. Another left El Paso, Tex. for Lubbock, Tex.

Mrs. Louise Thaden and Mrs.
Frances Marsalis, who landed yesterday at the Valley Stream, L. I., airport after establishing a new women's endurance record of 196 hours and five minutes, rested today preparatory to going to Cleveland in their record breaking plane.

BRAZIL IS UNDER MARTIAL LAW TODAY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug.
23.—(UP)—Brazil was under martial law today after a major battle on the Sao Paulo front and a violent outbreak here.

As the provisional government of President Getulio Vargas announced the Sao Paulo rebels had been dislodged, rioters set off two bombs near the Esplanada de Castello here, precipitating a half hour street battle.

Police rounded up rioters while firing repeatedly into the air. The outbreak, which began with the bombings at 4 p. m. had been suppressed by 4:30.

Men Take Over Beauty Shops Over Country

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(UP)—
Mrs. Ruth D. Maurer, chairman, told the 13th annual convention of the American Cosmeticians' association today that men who were started a few years ago at the invasion of barber shops by women now are returning the shock by "taking over" the beauty parlors.
"Men," said Mrs. Maurer,
"are becoming cosmetic conscious. They are learning there is room for improvement in their personal appearance and—very quietly—they are doing something about it. You'd be surprised to know how many carry lip-sticks and blending brushes."

"Why," she added, "one of my best customers is a traffic policeman."

HITLER PLANS FIGHT TO FREE FIVE TROOPERS

Sends 'Personal Petition to Chancellor Asking For Clemency

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—(UP)—A struggle against the government to free five Fascist storm troopers, sentenced to be beheaded, was promised today by Adolf Hitler, National Socialist party leader.

A short time after he addressed a personal petition to the government of Chancellor Franz von Papen, asking that the death sentences be commuted. Hitler sent a pithy message to the five condemned men. The action was viewed as an open defiance of the Von Papen regime, and of the government's right to set up arbitrary courts to handle cases involving political terrorism.

Hitler's sudden action followed a period of frenzied activity in which Nazi storm troopers fairly screamed their indignation at the penalty.

Mobs of Hitler followers fought with steel helmeted police in the streets of Berlin, where the five were sentenced.

Hitler left no doubt that if his five followers are executed all chance of his resuming negotiations with Von Papen will be ended.

At Berlin today the atmosphere was noticeably less tense.
Extra guards were placed at the prison holding the five condemned men.

It was understood the death sentences will not be carried out until defense attorneys have reached a decision on appeal for a new trial.

NINETEEN INJURED IN MOTOR CRASH

WYANDOTTE, Mich., Aug. 23.—
(UP)—One person was reported near death and 18 others were recovering today from injuries received last night when a Cleveland-Detroit motor bus crashed into the trailer of a parked truck.

Woodford Hall, 23, Cleveland, Negro porter on the bus, was the most seriously injured.

Mrs. Hattie Lewis, 48, Los Angeles, was injured slightly.

DOWNING MASS MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Dr. C. D. Ball Will Preside at Gathering in High School Auditorium

DR. C. D. BALL, chairman of the Downing-for-Senator club, will preside at the Downing mass meeting this evening in the Santa Ana High school, it was announced today. The meeting is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Clyde C. Downing, city attorney of Santa Ana, former Community Chest director and president of the chamber of commerce, and now a candidate for the state senate to succeed N. T. Edwards of Orange, will be the principal speaker. Facts regarding Edwards' legislative record at Sacramento will be given by J. A. Vye of Fullerton, secretary of the Downing club.

Indications today were for a large attendance of interested men and women from all districts of the county, anxious to learn the facts in the senatorial race, and concerning the "political ring" which it is said will be exposed at tonight's meeting.

This is one of the few political mass meetings scheduled during the primary campaign, and it is announced there will be no admission—No Collection—No Fussing!

BAKER TO CAMPAIGN FOR GOV. ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(UP)— Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, will campaign for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N.
Garnett, Democratic nominees for president and vice president it was reported today.

The support of Baker, prominent "dark horse" candidate at the Chicago convention, was believed indicated by the fact that he attended the luncheon prior to his Columbus, O., speech last Saturday.
Baker also was present when Roosevelt made his address.

MARIPOSA COUNTY FIRES ARE HALTED

NORTHFORK, Calif., Aug. 23.— (UP)—Forest fires in Mariposa county were under control today.
The Devils Gulch fire, which broke out yesterday, was circled by patrol lines, and it was believed, will burn itself out shortly.

Twelve fires, set close together along Signal Peak, also were held behind patrol lines. They and the Devils Gulch fire were believed to have been of incendiary origin.

More than 2500 acres of brush and young timber were destroyed in the past week by fires, forest authorities reported.

R.F.C. Loans Huge Sum To Local Banks

Optimism Spreads Over Country as Confidence is Created

Resignation of A. V. Jimenez as constable in San Juan Capistrano township was accepted this morning by the board of supervisors and C. J. Ercarte was appointed to succeed him.

In his resignation, to become effective October 1 Jimenez said that other business interests made it necessary for him to resign his office.

The huge amount of money loaned to the First National bank of Santa Ana and its affiliated organization—the Farmers and Merchants bank here by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The First National bank received $475-000 and the Farmers and Merchants banks obtained $275,000.

"The new money not only will help the farmers but also the merchants," W. B. Williams, vice president and cashier of the First National said today. "Loans made from this new source of money will tide the farmers over until their crop money becomes available in October, November and December. Merchants will be benefited as well."

The policy which has been in effect at the Farmers and Merchants bank for several months restricting withdrawals by depositors, has been cancelled and all depositors who want their money have been paid, according to E. B.
Sprague, who is vice president of both banking institutions.

Sprague pointed out the benefits that will be derived from the spreading of the three-quarters of a million dollars throughout Santa Ana and vicinity. "This money," he said, enables us to carry loans without calling them in. The real advantage of the loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation is passed on to the public. Avoiding foreclosures on mortgages and calling in loans

"FLYING BOUDOIR" IS BACK ON EARTH

VALLEY STREAM, L. I., Aug.
23.—(UP)—The "Flying Boudoir" was back on earth today after its 8-day merry go round over Long Island to set a new women's endurance record, while the pilots planned a new stunt for the Cleveland air contests.

The new women champions,
Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden and Mrs. Frances Harrell Marsalis, rested after a long sleep, completed their plans for the flight to Cleveland.

The old refueling endurance mark for women, 123 hours, set by Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper, was smashed by 73 hours, 5 minutes and 43 seconds. The new official record is 196 hours, five and four-fifths minutes.

ALICE LONGWORTH AIDS IN BRINGING BROTHER BACK TO CAMPAIGN FOR REPUBLICANS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.— (UP)—Alice Roosevelt Longworth had a bigger hand than is generally known in bringing her brother, Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, back from the Philippines to campaign for the Republican national ticket.

Pressed to return, young Roosevelt objected that island affairs demanded him. Alice was quietly appealed to. Shortly thereafter it was learned that Roosevelt probably would return.

Roosevelt now plans to sail
September 14 and to return just after election. He cabled a statement here that "circumstances have made it necessary" to return.

Filipino newspapers have been indignant over rumors that young Roosevelt was to be recalled to the United States for campaign work.

"This is a most unholy hour to deprive the administration of the Philippines of a most needed leadership and we protest against the oft-repeated evidence of Washington's policy of placing the interest of this country permanently subservient to the ends of American party politics," the Manila Tribune recently declared.

Roosevelt, however, said that while here he would "naturally do all I can for the Philippine people and will hope that I can accomplish something."

He once called Cousin Franklin—the Democratic presidential nominee—a maverick.

LEGAL MOVE PLANNED TO HALT STRIKE

Action of Farmers in Stopping Train in Nebraska is Held Violation

OMAHA IS PICKETED

Claim Violence Resorted to By Strikers During Night at Sioux City

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 23.—(UP)— Federal injunction action was suggested here today against the striking farmers who last night stopped a freight train near Emerson, Neb.

C. E. Sandall, United States district attorney, declared federal law had been violated by 300 men who broke into a cattle car on the train.

He said injunction action would be the proper remedy if the federal government should intervene.
Sandall said he would await a formal complaint before taking any action, but that "there was no doubt that section one of the Sherman anti-trust act had been violated."

The district attorney announced
he was apprising Attorney General
Mitchell of the facts in the case.
He said he was informed that the railroads also were taking the matter up with the interstate commerce commission.

Sandall, however, believed that at this time local authorities are capable of dealing with the situation, and said that if they are not the governor of Nebraska should call out the national guard.

A car of cattle consigned to the Sioux City livestock market, was unloaded and turned loose along the right-of-way before the train was permitted to proceed.

Advised by G. C. Porterfield, secretary to Governor Charles Bryan, of the farmers' action, U. S.
District Attorney C. E. Sandall went into conference immediately with his chief deputy, Ambrose A.
Epperson.

URGES McADOO QUIT RACE FOR SENATOR

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—(UP)—
William Young, one time Democratic candidate for governor of California, today urged William Gibbs McAdoo to withdraw as a candidate for United States senator as a "service to the Democratic party."

Young, who was a member of the California delegation to the Chicago convention which McAdoo swung to Roosevelt, declared that such action would "quench the fires of a political feud with Al Smith."

"McAdoo has the opportunity of his life to perform a real service to the Democratic party and close the doors of gossip to the effect that his party interest comes only with his candidacy for office," Young asserted.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 23.
(To the Editor of The Register.) Well, the old gentlemen's game of politics is just starting to hit her stride.
Roosevelt, in his Ohio speech, gave seven points where he would remedy things. The Hoover bunch are trying to get the market up seven points, so this is a seven-point campaign.

The minute one side makes a speech, the humorously called "strategists" on the other side go into a huddle to pick it apart, which all don't mean a thing. There is not a voter in America that twenty-four hours after any speech was made could remember two sentences in it. Politicians amuse more people than they interest.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BERNT BALCHEN TO MAP POLAR REGIONS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—(UP)—
Bernt Balchen, noted aviator, revealed today that a specially designed and built airplane in which he and Lincoln Ellsworth will map South Polar regions will be completed within a month.

Balchen came here from New York to inspect the craft, which is designed to develop its maximum speed and power in the higher altitudes and will have a cruising radius of 3500 miles.

Balchen and Ellsworth expect to sail in August or September of next year for a base in the Bay of Whales, Ross Sea, where they will assemble the plane for a 3500 mile flight to the Wedell sea. Much of the area they plan to traverse has never been mapped.

MORMONS PURCHASE 12,000 ACRE TRACT

FRESNO, Calif., Aug. 23.—(UP)— Bureau to purchase the 12,000-acre
Burrell ranch at Burrell, Calif., was on file in the county recorder's office here today.

Reports were that the Mormon church planned to use the ranch for a huge colonization project.
The reports could not be verified here.

The option was made out to E.
M. Shirley of Los Angeles by William Edward Wright of Fresno, representative of the Burrell estate, owners of the ranch.

APPARENT ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE FAILS

No motive for the apparent suicide attempt of Willard Swank, 21, son of Clarence Swank, of 210 East Ash street, Fullerton, had been discovered today following the finding of the boy at his home at 10:30 o'clock last night, suffering from the effects of iodine poisoning.

He was rushed to a doctor's office where his stomach was pumped out and he was then removed to the Orange county hospital. Today his condition was reported as improved and he will live.

Hospital attendants were unable to give a reason for the youth attempting his life nor were they able to state how much iodine he drank.

He was found by J. S. Connolly, of 200 East Ash street, a neighbor. Police Officers John Trezise and Roy Mills took charge of the case, taking young Swank to the hospital.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO HEAR ATTORNEY

Joe Burke, Santa Ana attorney and former United States district attorney, will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be sponsored by the Young Men's Republican club of Orange county which will be held at Ketter's cafe here Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. It was announced today by James M. Anderson, secretary.

The club was organized at a meeting held last week. It is planned to have five or six similar banquets throughout the county before the November elections.

Probably 150 will attend the banquet to be held here Thursday, according to Anderson. Tickets have been sold in all sections of the county.

REQUEST FOR NEW TRUSTEES DISREGARDED

Taxpayers of the Westminster Cemetery district today filed a protest with the board of supervisors over the appointment last week of members of the cemetery board. The protest was signed by C. W. Musser and 45 taxpayers in the district.

According to Musser, who was interviewed today, taxpayers of the district following a resolution adopted at the annual meeting, had requested appointment of an entirely new board of directors, for economic reasons, and had suggested the names of nine taxpayers from which the appointments could be made. The supervisors, he said, ignored their recommendations and reappointed the old board members with the exception of Paul Swayze who replaced John Guptill. He said the taxpayers objected to increased costs in the district.

Text of the protest submitted this morning was:

"We the taxpayers of the Westminster Cemetery District hereby protest the reappointment of any of the old board inasmuch as we asked for a complete new board and feel that we are entitled to the same."

Following reading of the protest, Supervisor John Mitchell, chairman of the board, who represents that district, said that inasmuch as the cemetery board has already been appointed there is nothing that the supervisors do. Deputy District Attorney William Menton was asked for an opinion. He reminded the board that members of the cemetery district have been appointed to serve terms of four years. He said that while they are appointed subject to the pleasure of the supervisors they can hardly be removed unless for a specific reason.

Musser in the interview said that the request was made because taxpayers in the district did not feel that affairs of the cemetery district, which comprises the Alamitos, Westminster and Bolsa school districts, are being administered with the proper economy. He also charged that members of the old board were governed in all decisions by W. W. Hodgkinson, former member who resigned to accept the position of sexton and caretaker.

Requests Denied
Present members of the board, appointed last Tuesday, are: Roy Head, O. B. Byram and Swayze. Swayze replaced John Guptill on the board under the requested reorganization. Musser said that in spite of requests that an entire new board be appointed Guptill was the only member replaced. He also declared that Guptill was the only member who fought for the taxpayers in the interest of economy.

In connection with the protest filed today with the supervisors Musser made the following statement:

"Up until 1926 this cemetery has been known as the Westminster Cemetery association. Its charter had run out. It was an eyesore to the community. It is located just next to the Alamitos Friends church. W. W. Hodgkinson, O. B. Byram and Luther Nussan were the trustees. After the new district was formed, the board of supervisors appointed Charles Johnson, O. B. Byram and W. W. Hodgkinson as trustees.

"Through the work of the Alamitos Men's Brotherhood, a cemetery district comprising the school districts of Alamitos, Westminster and Bolsa, was formed and W. W. Hodgkinson resigned and took the job as sexton and caretaker. John Guptill was appointed to take his place. At the death of Johnson, a year or more ago, Roy Head was appointed to fill out his term.

The cemetery was put in good shape at a very high cost and it has been the feeling of the taxpayers that a cut should be made in the upkeep, as all the improvements were completed more than a year ago.

"At the annual meeting of the trustees on July 5, about 40 or more interested taxpayers of the district were present and a resolution asked that the old board resign and that an entirely new board be appointed. Nine were named, three from each district, one to be picked from each school district.

"At the meeting, Mr. Hodgkinson, self appointed superintendent, informed those present that they had nothing to say in the matter as only those who have lots in the cemetery were entitled to be heard in the matter. The old board, however, said they were willing to resign, and all the taxpayers were satisfied.

"A resolution was unanimously adopted stating that inasmuch as the trustees' terms had expired, a new board was desired. No motion was taken until last Tuesday, when the board of supervisors appointed the same board with the exception of John Guptill. Paul Swayze being put in his place. Paul Swayze seems to be agreeable in trying to reduce costs in the district, but it is felt he will be helpless in trying to act with the other trustees.

"The sentiment of the people seems to be that they realize it is purely a charitable work, they are willing to be taxed a reasonable amount, but feel that if they are not to be allowed any voice the only course left is a withdrawal from the district, which seems to

Santa Ana Man Entered In Rodeo Contest

Entered in the calf roping and steer riding contests, Joe Edwards, Santa Ana R. F. D. 2, Box 260, rancher, will be an active participant in the second annual World's Congress of Rough Riders and Rodeo at Los Angeles, it was announced today.

The big spectacle, under the direction of Waldo T. Tupper, will be staged Labor Day by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Olympic stadium.

Edwards, who carries the title of champion steer decorator of Southern California, expects some keen competition but is confident that he will hold the laurels he has already won.

H. A. WASSUM DIES AT HOME THIS MORNING

Death, coming at 10:20 o'clock this morning, removed a pioneer resident of Santa Ana and a native son of California, when Howard A. Wassum, 64, died at his home on Fruit street east of Santa Ana after an extended illness.

Wassum, who was well known throughout Orange county, had been a resident of Santa Ana and vicinity for the past 37 years. He was elected to the board of supervisors in 1918 and served a four-year term, starting in 1919. At the time of his death, he was a deputy sheriff, acting as court bailiff in department one of superior court.

He had been taken to the Sawtelle soldiers' hospital recently, after having been injured in an automobile accident several months ago. He had leave of absence from his duties at the time of his death.

He was the son of John Wassum, who crossed the plains in 1852 from Missouri, landing in Oregon. Howard A. Wassum, his son, was born in Napa county, California, in 1868.

Immediately after the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, Mr. Wassum enlisted in the army and was among the first to be dispatched to the Philippine islands, his detachment establishing the first army post on the islands. On his discharge from the army and return, he returned to San Diego county where he secured a position as engineer. In 1900 he married Emma M. King, who was born in Orange county and who was raised in Garden Grove.

In 1902 Mr. Wassum rented 2100 acres of land in the San Joaquin ranch, which he farmed. Later he purchased 21 acres of ranch land east of Santa Ana.

In former years he was identified with the California National Guard, where he held a commission as first lieutenant of company L, Seventh regiment, and for several months acted as commander of the company. Since coming here he has been a member of the local camp, Spanish War Veterans, and has enjoyed the distinction of serving for three terms as commander.

He was a member of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Elks lodge, all degrees of Masonry up to and including the Commandery, and was also associated with the Eastern Star. He was also a past commander of the Knights Templar.

He is survived by his wife, Emma King Wassum; two children, Elizabeth and Bobby Jim; two sisters, Mrs. Clyde Brown of Los Angeles and Mrs. Anna O'Neal of Pomona, besides several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later by the Winbiger Funeral home.

Annual Picnic Of D.A.V. Scheduled At Park Tomorrow

An outdoor social gathering in preference to the regular indoor business meeting will be held by Jack Fisher chapter and Auxiliary, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, at Hewes park at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The annual picnic is one of the highlights of the D. A. V. program and all disabled veterans and their families eagerly anticipate this fete at Hewes park.

B. L. Chittenden, senior vice commander, will be in charge of this event, due to the unavoidable absence of Commander Earl B. Hawks. Chittenden today asked all families to bring a covered dish and table service. Mrs. Hazel Chittenden, Auxiliary commander, announced that coffee and watermelon will be furnished by the Auxiliary.

Attention of new members is called by leaders to the next business session of the Jack Fisher chapter on September 14 when a record class of new members will be initiated.

It is possible, according to law. It is hoped that they do not have to take this means.

"Last year the trustees spent $3423.94, with labor costing $2184 and clerical help $84. This year they obtained $4430, an increase of more than $1000 which the taxpayers feel is unreasonable."

Open Entry List For Singers In Radio Competition

Under the sponsorship of the Civic Music association of Orange county, county youth vocalists in the county will have the opportunity of entering the Atwater Kent Sixth National Radio Audition, awarding prizes totalling $15,000 to young men and young women singers, it was learned today.

The contest in Orange county is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Archibald M. Edwards, formerly Miss Helen Wishard, of the Fullerton High school music department. Appointments of local chairmen are not yet completed, but will be announced in a few days.

Those in Santa Ana, or vicinity, who are interested in entering the contest should apply for information and enrollment blanks at once to Clarence Gustlin, at the Gustlin Music-Arts Conservatory, 819-821 North Sycamore street.

HOLD MEXICANS ON AUTO THEFT COUNT

Charged with grand theft, in connection with the alleged theft of an automobile, two Mexicans were today being held in the county jail, following their arrest last night by sheriff's officers of Norwalk.

The men, Refugio Martinez, of Norwalk, 23, and Frank Rodriguez, 22, the latter of Carmichael, Cal., are alleged to have stolen an automobile owned by the Vincent Used Car market here from a place where it was parked on a Placentia street, last Saturday night.

Parts of the car together with the prisoners were discovered on a truck near Norwalk. The men were arrested and the car's parts confiscated. The Norwalk officers then turned the men over to the local sheriff's office and the Mexicans were brought to jail here by L. H. Nicholson, deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Neal was born in Irving, Ill., in 1870. She came to California 18 years ago. The family came to Buena Park from Bakersfield.

The body is at the O. A. Steie Funeral home.

The sixth annual convention of the California State Builders' Exchange will be held in Stockton on September 30.

Two Auto Crashes Reported In City

Two automobile accidents were reported in Santa Ana during the past 24 hours, but no one was hurt in either of them, according to reports on file at the Santa Ana police station.

Cars driven by Wilma A. Garlick, of 406 Winter street and Ernest Peterson, of the Holly Sugar company, collided at Culver and Main streets at 7:15 p. m. yesterday and cars driven by W. R. Hughes, of 724 Eastwood avenue and Mrs. R. E. Schroeder of 223 West Culver street, Orange, ran together at Santa Clara avenue and North Main streets at 9 o'clock last night.

Police News

Wayne Earl Morgan, El Segundo man, residing at 515 Walnut street, that city, was lodged in the county jail here last night, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was sentenced in the justice court at Seal Beach yesterday to pay a fine of $300 or serve 75 days in jail.

STATE OFFICER WILL EXPLAIN CHILD CLINIC

Arrangements have been made, as announced previously, by the board of education for a traveling clinic to render service in Santa Ana schools this year. The clinic is held under sponsorship of the state and entails no cost to the local board.

It is expected that representatives of the county health service, the Parent-Teachers' association, the county medical society and the parental home, with others, will meet with the board. Any interested persons were invited by Superintendent Henderson to be present.

Dr. Fenton was invited by the board to appear before them and explain the workings of the Child Guidance Clinic, a state institution. He will be accompanied by members of his staff.

Appointment of Ericarte was made on motion of Supervisor George Jeffrey from the fifth district. Other applicants for the position were Jack Combs and Mat Belarde.

Petition of Lucas Lucio, head of the Mexican Honorary Commission for petition to hold weekly dances at El Modena for the benefit of indigent Mexicans of the county was referred to the district attorney and sheriff for approval.

Lucio said that the dances would be sponsored by the Honorary Commission at El Modena and that organization would be responsible for maintaining order and law observance.

COURT HOLDS MAN GUILTY OF CHICKEN THEFT

Because he was hauling a bunch of chickens that were so silent he said he thought they were sacks of flour, Arthur Kelly, was found guilty of second degree burglary yesterday by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel. He filed notice of application for probation and hearing on his petition was set for September 2.

Belveal was arrested on July 20 by Officers Duhart and Swazey of the Orange County Fruit Patrol, at Whittier when he approached a poultry market with several sacks of chickens. He was captured after a chase that led from the R. G. Sutton ranch, north of Tustin, to Whittier.

On the witness stand yesterday afternoon Belveal told a story of being employed by a man whom he designated as "Smitty" to haul some packages. He said that "Smitty" led him to a ranch house near Tustin and told him to park his automobile and "drive up when I whistle."

Belveal said that when "Smitty" whistled he approached and the sacks filled with something were placed in the rear of his machine. He drove to Whittier where he was arrested. During the entire trip the chickens did not make a sound, he testified. "Did you know what was in the sacks," the court asked him. "No, your honor. To tell you the truth, I thought I was hauling whiskey."

Belveal chose to be tried without a jury. In finding him guilty Judge Scovel pointed out discrepancies in Belveal's story at the time of his arrest and the one he told on the witness stand.

MAKES ANSWER TO QUERIES ON HIS POSITION

Answering a series of questions by Frank Morris of Huntington Beach, county chairman of the unemployed, addressed to candidates for the office of supervisor, and published in the Register on Saturday, James C. Metzger today issued the following open letter to Morris:

"As a citizen, I consider the needs of men, women and children for the necessities of life as the paramount question of the hour in Santa Ana and Orange county. Of what use is our boasted civilization if it does not provide for the hungry? Where is our Christianity if we do not see to it that society fills the essential wants of the needy and unfortunate? With things as they are, that is the first and most important duty of every public official, to my mind.

"You ask if I would make appropriations for such highways as the Ortega highway in preference to diverting such funds for the use of these needy men and their families, who are temporarily without positions in the county. Of course not! To such a choice there is only one answer—the needs of Orange county citizens must come first, before highways, dams, harbors, public buildings or anything else. I am not making this statement merely for the purpose of seeking votes of the unemployed, but am stating my principles as a citizen and taxpayer who realizes that unless our people are cared for first, highways, buildings, and dams would be of no use whatsoever.

Defer Luxuries
"While on the subject of the Ortega highway, let me say that when we can afford it, such luxuries are all right, but at present when we cannot afford it, they should if possible be deferred, while the greater needs of our taxpayers and unemployed are taken care of. This should answer your question of what my attitude toward the unemployed would be if I should be elected supervisor.

"Answering your second question, I want to understand that I stand for full and complete publicity about all county business—where the money comes from and where it goes. Every citizen is a stockholder in the county, and as such is entitled to all the facts about public affairs. It seems to me no one, official or private citizen, can arrive at intelligent decisions unless they know all the facts. Upon many occasions I have been privileged to oppose reckless and extravagant expenditures, including the $16,500,000 dam bonds three years ago, and it has been my experience that when the complete facts are presented, the collective judgment of the public is nearly always right. Knowing this to be true, the principal undertaking of those of us who try to save tax money is to secure accurate information, and then present it to the voters.

Must Inform Public
"When the public is kept fully informed about city and county business, and when officials realize that the needs of human beings are paramount to anything else, and when they are inspired to devote their energies to the welfare of the majority, and not to any small group in the 'machine,' then we will have an economical, enlightened government in which we can all take pride, for it is truly representative of the people of Orange county. I make no pretenses of being perfect, but the aims outlined above I sincerely believe in, and if the voters of Santa Ana see fit to choose me as their supervisor I certainly will strive in every way I know how to make progress toward that goal of true representation.

"I feel that voters are entitled to know how I stand on the important questions at issue, and am glad to discuss them freely and honestly with anyone interested."

Smileys Return From Mountains

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smiley have returned from a vacation spent in the Red Bernardino mountains, where Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smiley are sojourning. Mr. Smiley spent some time at the headwaters of the Santa Ana river and while there is plenty of water in the creeks and streams, little rain has fallen in the mountains the past summer, he said.

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 23.—(UP)—The "big push" of the 1932 primary campaign is on! Embattled candidates for United States senator have moved their heavy artillery to Southern California. There may be found most of the votes, and these votes may decide the issue in the Republican and Democratic contests.

Gov. Rolph
You'd almost think Governor Rolph is running for office, the

he's being attacked for this that about the state. disclosure of a plan to move state capitol from Sacramento to Los Angeles, where it would be housed in a magnificent building presented free to the state. didn't do him much good in Sacramento. In San Francisco his friends winked at each other and commented, "Sunny Jim can't resist a chance to stir up the animals."

The fact is, this was the governor's way of "spanking" certain of his critics in Sacramento who have been attacking him for permitting various state offices to be moved to San Francisco. The last office to be moved was the state bureau of commerce, headed by Simon J. Lubin.

Well, the next attack came at the American Legion convention in Oakland, where Rolph proposed that California float a bond issue to pay the soldiers' bonus to its own veterans. It didn't take State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson long to blast the plan as a "financial atrocity," and recommended that Rolph give thought to "balancing his budget without further burdening the taxpayer."

On top of it all, the legionnaires rejected the proposal.

Political Gossip
Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance, spoke a little too soon when he said it would take the state 40 years to pay off its Olympic debt of $1,000,000. The next day the Olympic officials announced that the games had paid enough profit that the state would get its money back.

George Ackerman, assembly candidate in Sacramento, has filed a suit to stop Attorney General U. S. Webb's salary unless he lives in Sacramento as the law provides. It's generally regarded as a campaign move, and probably won't be pressed after the election is over.

Governor Rolph, who celebrates his sixty-third birthday today, as usual will exchange greetings with Mayor George L. Baker of Portland, whose birthday falls on the same day.

Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento says he'll introduce a bill in the 1933 legislature, demanding that the governor account for all the money he has spent in office. Inman said he wanted to know "all about this airplane traveling. And the $4468 bathroom in Rolph's Los Angeles offices and that $1615 oriental rug, not to mention the cabinet serving table, and the electric refrigerator with its 112 ice cubes."

NEWSPAPER ADS TO BE USED IN BANK CAMPAIGN

Based on the belief that there has been a definite improvement in public sentiment regarding the business situation, an enlarged advertising program is to be started immediately by Security-First National bank according to Frank J. Was, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the institution, Southern California's largest branch banking system.

With the campaign directed toward increasing the bank's savings deposits and advancing the growing number of new term accounts, it is anticipated that it will result in restoring to circulation considerable money now in hoarding.

Launched today, the advertising program will employ numerous successful mediums, chiefly newspapers. Because of the current reader interest in newspapers, the bank's officials believe that they are the most desirable medium.

The bank has already made an increased appropriation for newspaper advertising, and space in Southern California will be increased this fall. Additional purchased space will cover areas served by the bank's branches, from Fresno on the north to Imperial valley on the south.

The advertising's general theme will hold closely to the savings appeal. "This bank's savings accounts have shown a remarkable record during the period of depression," the local banker stated.

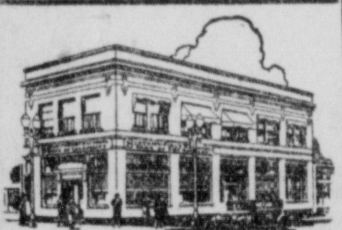

"It is our intention now to focus public attention upon savings accounts and their many desirable investment features."

JEAN LEONARD TO OPEN STUDIO HERE

Through the efforts of many graduates of the Jean Leonard Studio and H. C. Barker of the Foster-Barker Music company, the widely known pianist and instructor will open a branch studio here, it was announced today.

Leonard, who has been heard over many radio stations, will open his local studio in the Foster-Barker store on next Friday. The store is located at 309 West Fourth street. A reception for the general public will be held in connection with the opening from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. when a program of entertainment will be presented throughout the day by Leonard and members of his local and Hollywood staff.

In the Hollywood studio some widely known celebrities have been trained, among them Loretta Young, George Brent, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Marion Nixon and Joan Blondell who are taking instruction at the present time.

The "THIN Edge of the Wedge"

ONE man may decide he is going to save fifty cents a week out of his wages and begin by setting aside fifty cents from THIS week's pay. Another man may have excellent intentions to set aside $5 per week, when and if he "gets a raise". Even if the second man gets his pay increase the chances are the fifty-cents-a-week man will have more money in bank at the end of the year.

It's the small start and steady growth that fattens your savings account. Thrift usually means some sacrifice of present pleasures, but this Bank has never taught that a man should not spend a major part of his income, as he earns it.

You need not be "stingy." You should not deprive yourself of any necessities nor all enjoyments. But earmark for your Bank account part of what you get, before you spend it. Starting this way you will find it easy to keep on, easier to save a little more.

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

R. F. C.

A lot of coincidence occurred at once in connection with the publication of R. F. C. loans.

Speaker Garner denied he saw South Trimble, the clerk who made the decision. Trimble denied he saw Garner.

They say the decision just happened to be the way Garner wanted it. Another happy circumstance was that Garner happened to be in town the day Trimble made up his mind.

The inside fact is Trimble would as soon cut off his right arm as to go against Garner. The Speaker gave Trimble his job. As long as Trimble holds it he will do what Garner wants. He would be looking for work now if he did anything else.

That is the way things are run in Washington. Conservative Democratic Senators are privately irked that Garner had the nerve to push his policy of publication. They thought they had assurances he would duck the issue until after the election. They probably will keep quiet about it for political reasons, but they do not like it.

Garner's strategy is clear. He will tell the people he was just trying to let them know what loans the Government is making with their money. Bankers will squeal that they do not like publication of their business relations with the Government. Some business men will too. Garner is relying on the fact that there are more people who pay taxes than there are bankers who obtain loans.

POWER

The phenomenal meeting of the minds of Garner and Trimble is equaled only by President Hoover and the Federal Power Commission. They are also two who never see each other but their hearts beat as one.

As soon as Congress adjourned, the commission trotted out a recommendation that electric power holding companies be dissolved.

As soon as the campaign gets under way it now recommends interstate regulation of power. That happens to be something Mr. Hoover has been advocating since 1923.

It is obviously designed to take the electric power wind out of Gov. Roosevelt's sails.

PRESS
The White House has made peace with the newspaper correspondents again. Olives were offered by the President at a Camp Rapidan luncheon. Only the boys who cover the White House assignment were invited.

It followed a rupture of press relations when Mr. Hoover went fishing. He gave the newspapermen the slip at every opportunity. They were denied accommodations on a lighthouse inspection boat which trailed the chief executive carrying secret service men. They hired a boat of their own for $75 a day.

Everytime they caught up with the Presidential craft it would lift anchor and scoot. They could not keep up in their slower boat. They only saw the President once in three days. He would not speak to them then.

PIXMEN
The new photographers had a faster ship and they hung close to the Presidential stern. Finally the President sent a secret service man over to see them. He asked: "If we give you one picture of the President holding a rod, will you please go away?"

They agreed to take one and be happy. However they took a few extras for good measure. They also were invited to camp and given olives.

FISH
One sure thing is that no one will ever accuse President Hoover of conducting his fishing expedition for campaign purposes. He set out to keep it out of the newspapers and nearly did.

He caught some fish but not nearly as many as announced at the White House by the publicity secretary. That 9 pound trout was a pipe dream.

LOTTERIES
Nobody is expected to be convicted in those New York lottery cases against Senator Davis of Pennsylvania and others. On the inside it is understood trial may be deferred and ultimately dropped. The action was taken to break up simultaneously the practice of fraternal organizations collecting funds by sponsoring lotteries on a national scale. It will have that effect.

NOTES
As a matter of inside fact Garner is supposed to be a banker himself. He owns some stock in Texas banking institutions. . . . One of the Washington newspapers became confused about the release date of Vice President Curtis' acceptance speech. . . . It printed the speech 24 hours before it was delivered. . . . Nobody paid much attention and no alarm was caused. . . . When the speech was actually delivered it was printed over again. . . . Kansas politicians suspected Curtis had his eye on his home state only when he took that dry stand. . . . They say he would run for the Senate if he is defeated this time. . . . Curtis became a dry as a haddock in his college days when he had to haul the drunks around late at night. . . . The story in the 1928 campaign that he had a half pint of whiskey on his hip at a race track was absolutely untrue. . . . None of those kind of stories have appeared in the campaign yet. . . . They will. . . .

COMMODITIES
The Commodity Finance Corporation means even less than it appears to on the surface. The general idea is that loans will be made only to such applicants as have not been able to get credit through regular commercial banking channels. This puts the proposition in a class with direct loans by Federal Reserve banks to individuals—lots of publicity but very little action.

Chiefly the Corporation will function as a moral gesture and a political talking point. It can be said that the Administration has inspired mechanism whereby commodity purchases should be stimulated. In a sense it will function also as a court of appeals in the case of prospective borrowers whose applications have been rejected by banks. But the members of the court will be bankers themselves. There may be some business with applicants from communities where banking facilities have been suspended but that will be about all.

COTTON

One intriguing angle of the situation has to do with Eugene Meyer's endeavor to stimulate the creation of a pool to take over the Farm Board's cotton surplus. The pool is to be composed of textile manufacturers and the original idea involved borrowing of funds as a pool from the new corporation to finance cotton purchases. Now it appears that loans of this character will not be made. Possibly some of the individual textile mills composing the group may be able to get loans on their own account—which is an entirely different matter.

SPURT

The important interests which have been in the background of the stock market rise have figured out that things have gone far enough for the present. The market has now until after Labor Day is apt to be a rather dull affair. If it is steered at all, it will only be to keep it from going out of bounds too far in either direction. It may be a different story in September.

Considering the political motive it seemed to many Wall Streeters that the market rally started too early. There was a reason for it. Trade statistics for August were foreseen as unusually bad. Payroll figures were phenomenally low. It was felt that if something wasn't done to take people's minds off the bad news, the blues might sink in so deeply during August that it would be difficult to shake them off through market action later.

In two respects this strategy has been successful. Stock market excitement has helped materially to divert people's minds from their troubles and it has switched the tone of the news rather more than expected.

STEEL

The unfilled steel order report to be filed in September will probably show a marked and surprising improvement. Orders will be quietly placed this month from several important sources. The back-log figures may be as much as to stimulate another advance of stock prices in mid-September.

OUTLOOK

The politico-financial sponsors of prosperity by propaganda are banking on a natural trade revival in September which will transform psychological gains into actual gains. They figure that if things can be kept from falling apart that much longer natural demand will take care of the rest. If it works, all will be well—but there is no positive assurance yet that it will work.

Some of the trade papers are helping the cause along with optimistic forecasts. It is worth remembering that trade papers were also instrumental in building up Mr. Hoover's original candidacy.

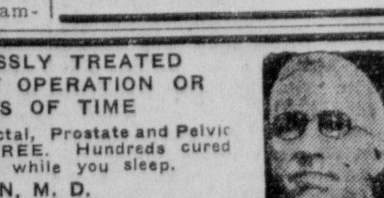

DIogenES

A modern Diogenes searching out signs of real business improvement against hope would have rather difficult sledding hereabouts. He would have an almost equally difficult time in finding anyone who will admit making a profit out of the past month's rising Stock Market. Copyright, 1932, McClure Newspaper Syndicate

SACRAMENTO Aug. 23.—(UP)
—Wanted: Practical optimists. Apply everywhere.
This advertisement might be run with profit in every newspaper in the country. Of all commodities of which the United States is now short, the one labeled "optimistic philosophy" leads the list.
Sometimes, the closer one's nose is to one's work, the less one knows about it.
That paradox was proven last week when an English banker, 3000 miles away from the American shores of the Atlantic ocean said the bottom of the depression in the United States had been reached some time ago, recovery was on its way, but "the silly Americans don't know it yet."
Once, when William Shakespeare was in an unusually cynical mood he said something worth remembering. And that was, that there is nothing good or bad but thinking makes it so.
So there is something in the state of one's mind, isn't there, in spite of our pessimistic economists?
As one leading Chicago advertising executive said the other day: You can get all the statistics you want on freight loadings, unemployment, production of commodities, stocks on hand, and the like, but where can you get figures on the number of optimists and the number of pessimists?
In other words, mass psychology is just as important in speeding up recovery as mass production, mass distribution, mass buying, and mass consumption.
Stocks and bonds, of course, are maintaining and increasing their gains. Cotton jumped $5 a bale, on the strength of the government's report on acreage and condition. The south, like the midwest, where hogs went up 60

During the interrogation of several Chicago Cubs, regarding their race track activities, Leslie O'Connor, who is Judge Landis' secretary, asked a direct question of Rogers Hornsby and the reply was interesting.

O'Connor wanted to know if Hornsby ever had taken any of those "four boys"—Bush, Malone, English and O'Leary—to the race track with him. And Hornsby replied:

"I never went to the races, so they never went with me any place. I have never been to the races."

BAD LUCK AT TRACK

Of course you don't have to go to the races to be a horse player. Many inveterate followers of the ponies insist they have no luck at a track. They meet someone with a hot tip and are "talked off their horse."

The judge should have asked the Rajah, "What is a race track?" And, perhaps from his memory of pictures in the newspapers, Hornsby could have told him what one was like.

OTHERS GO, HOWEVER

At different times, I have seen members of almost every major league ball club at race tracks, and included among the number were owners, managers, trainers and bat boys.

The entire point of Judge Landis' inquiry seems obscure. In the light of the fact that there isn't a ball club in either league which hasn't horse players on its roster. The owner of one American league club operates a stable, though Colonel Joe Williams of the New York World-Telegram avers that he failed to win a bet placed on one of the owner's hides.

UNIMPORTANT MONEY

Most of the ball players I know who play the races, go to the tracks, and do not make the sort of bets Hornsby is reputed to have laid on the line.

Of course a majority of ball players are only occasional bettors. And as they go to the race tracks only on their off days, not very serious money is involved. Babe Ruth's contributions to the betterment of the breed of lovable gee-gees is legendary. When the Babe was younger and the world was his oyster, the horses looked easy to the big fellow. His losses are said to have run into important thousands.

M'GRAW POSES

McGraw of the Giants makes no secret of his craving for the ponies, and even has posed for numerous pictures at the track in Havana.

Now and again I have met members of the Yankees, Athletics, Indians, Browns, Red Sox, Tigers, etc., but why go on?—at the tracks here and there. And didn't think at the time I was witnessing the commission of some ponderous moral turpitude.

HORNSBY, THE HORSE
Several horses are named after ball players. Offhand, I can think of such nags as Hornsby, Dick Porter and Bib Falk. During the very time Hornsby, the ball player, was being investigated, Hornsby, the horse, was running at Thistle-down.

Hornsby, the horse, wasn't running very fast, however. After watching that animal in one of his recent heats, it was this writer's hope that Hornsby, the ball player, never had bet on that scrot.

The outlook, right now, isn't so rosy for either of the Hornsby's.

GIANTS, MACKS AND REDS SURE TO DO PRUNING

BY HENRY M'LEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(UP)—

The baseball trade winds only mild zephyrs of recent years, may reach gale force this winter when financially embarrassed clubs start unloading fancy-priced stars, and dissatisfied outfits begin tearing down to build for the future.

The New York Giants and the once haughty Philadelphia Athletics are expected to rip things apart from top to bottom. Bill Terry had been behind John McGraw's old desk only a day when he made it clear he planned to place an almost completely new team on the field in 1933. Those who profess to know say that an outfielder and a pitcher are the only 1932 Giants sure of their jobs.

If Terry does come through with such a drastic shake-up, some powerful expensive and capable ivory will be sold to the highest bidder.

Mack Sure To Revise A's
There have been all sorts of rumors about what Connie Mack was going to do to the Athletics. Simmons was headed for the Yanks. Earnshaw to the Browns. Cochrane was going here, Walberg there.

All the boys were headed somewhere except Fox and Grove. Although Mack has denied he planned any such revision of his team, it's a cinch the White Elephants of 1932 will be a different herd from the bunch that failed to fulfill Connie's dream of four straight pennants.

Even the Yankees may be involved in the winter trading. Though Colonel Ruppert and his organization don't lack for money, they may refuse to renew Babe Ruth's contract, which calls for $75,000 a year. With that money the Yankees could hire a couple of ball players who would just about guarantee them the pennant.

The Cincinnati Reds can hardly be expected to start the 1933 season with three such fancy-salaried gentlemen as Herman, Hefey and Doughton on the payroll. For the Reds have lost plenty of money this season. The team looked like a winner early in the year, then came that slump and the customers stayed away from Redland's field with reckless abandon.

White Sox Busy Traders

The White Sox are sure to be busy traders. Manager Ponsese traded everything but Comiskey park this year. He'll probably manage to swap that during the winter in an effort to give Southside fans a winner. Then there's the Cubs. They'll make at least one trade or sale, for they've got Burleigh Grimes, and the country would go off the gold standard if Burleigh didn't change hands once a year.

Reardon and Riskey out in St. Louis can be counted on to get rid of somebody. The Cards, however, aren't likely to do any wholesale shipping down the river, unless a miracle should come to pass and give them the pennant. For the Cards, you know, date on trading and selling guys who bring them championships. They can't stand the sight of a winner. The rest of the clubs you can figure out for yourself. We're tired.

OLYMPIAD RECORDS NEARLY ALL BROKEN

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—(INS)—

Nearly every existing Olympic record was shattered in the 1932 games, according to official statistics revealed today by the Olympic committee.

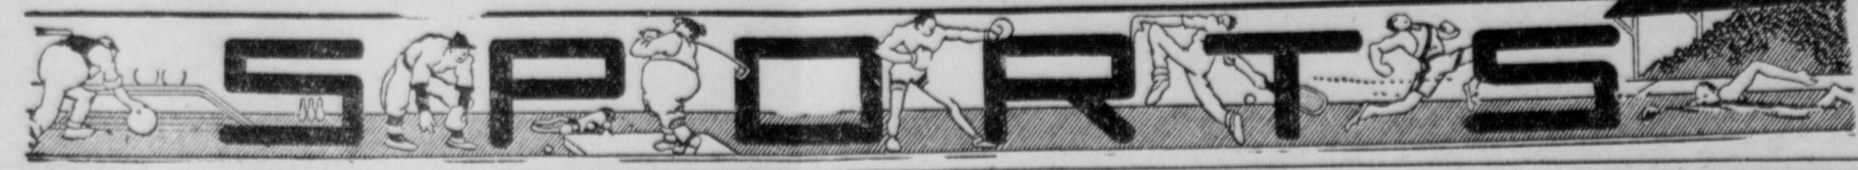

In track and field competitions 26 out of a possible 29 new Olympic records were set, 19 out of a possible 11 Olympic records were broken in swimming, four out of five new weight-lifting marks were established, the fifth tied, and the only recognized cycling mark, the 1000-meter time trial, also was bettered.

Of the 41 new Olympic records, 17 also were new world records, while an additional three world records were tied, not including Eddie Tolon's 21.2 seconds for the 200 meters.

Victory in "the Kentucky Derby of harness racing"—the Hambletonian stake—had been clinched by The Marchioness when this picture was taken showing the smooth-running bay filly (left) as she won the fourth and final heat of the classic event at Goshen, N. Y. Hollywood-Dennis is seen finishing second. The Marchioness, driven by the veteran Billy Caton, earned a purse of nearly $30,000 for her owner, Mrs. Ralph R. Keeler, of Auburn, N. Y.

TED KING, S. A. RIDER, ENTERS SATURDAY RACE

A Santa Ana entry, Ted King, on his Rathburn special, a fleet creation carrying the hopes of Orange county, was entered today in Saturday night's second motorbike racing program at the Santa Ana Bowl.

Many fans who attended last week's inauguration were surprised to view so many professional stars in action and wondered whence they had hailed. The answer is that the handlebar manipulators come from all sections of the country, with prospects bright for the development of several stellar riders in Anaheim, Orange, Santa Ana and other cities of this county.

Minny Wain and "Slim" Meyers are Los Angeles boys, while Cordy Milne, the youth who fought a spectacular battle with Wain for first place in the sweepstakes, being a product of Hollywood. Cordy was instructed in the rudiments of the art within the shadows of the studios by that old-time side car expert, Harry Pelton. The ponderous Harry may be seen pushing "Shorty" at the start of each event.

Grimm Signs To Lead Cub Team In '33

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(UP)—

Charlie Grimm today signed a contract to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1933.

"I am immensely pleased to be able to do this," the stocky first baseman said. "I'm going to get out and hustle harder than ever now."

The salary was not announced. Grimm recently succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager of the Cubs.

KORAL LOST TO AL'S SERVICE; SEEK BUSHMAN

"Bono" Koral, captain, pitcher and leading hitter of Al's Auto Service, is lost to his team for the remainder of the series with MacMillan Gasoline for the Santa Ana City league baseball championship. The teams resume their playoff at the Bowl tonight.

A torn ligament in his pitching arm, suffered early in the first game of the series last week when MacMillans won 10-1, will keep Koral from baseball the rest of the season.

Al Adrian, manager of the club, was making efforts today to acquire the services of Al Bushman of Anaheim, who did some slinging here for the Holy Name society in the city league, as a substitute moundman for Koral. If unsuccessful, Adrian probably will rely on the veteran "Tex" Bergman to pitch the rest of the series which will be determined on a best two-out-of-three basis.

Mearl Youel will pitch for MacMillan Gasoline. He held Al's Service to four hits last week.

What a break Earl McNeely got! Not quite 10 years ago, Sacramento picked up a sandlot ballplayer and developed him into the outfield star that was McNeely in 1924 when the Washington Senators paid $50,000 for him. After several good years, Earl dropped back into the minors and this year Milwaukee in the American association offered him for sale at $3000. Now he's back in the Coast league again, where he recently was named manager at Sacramento, succeeding the veteran Buddy Ryan, who resigned.

STRILICH AGAIN MADE FAVORITE OVER MALONEY

Although George Maloney, Irish

light-heavyweight wrestling champion, believes his coming three-fall, two hour clash with Steve Strilich will be another story, wrestling followers of this sector are of the opinion the latter again will prove the Irish gladiator's master Thursday night in the Orange County Athletic club's ring.

Strilich and Maloney meet in a rematch, topping a four-bout program arranged by Promoter Elmer Willson. Last Thursday night the "Terrible Swede" scored a surprise triumph over Maloney when the latter gave up the ghost following a severe nose injury. At the time Maloney was on even terms with Strilich, having scored the first fall. Strilich took the second in a rough stum.

So fast and so even was the battle until the sudden ending that Promoter Willson immediately rematched them. A drastic reduction in prices takes effect, 50 cents being general admission.

The three-fall, one-hour semifinal will bring together the rough and scientific Dr. A. P. Mullikan and "Wildcat" Miller, clever Texan. Last Thursday night Dr. Mullikan made quick work of Johnny Clancy in the wildest battle of the night.

In Miller the world's title claimant is meeting a much more formidable foe and a man capable of extending him to the limit. Many fans are of the opinion Miller will pin the Los Angeles title claimant.

In a previous engagement several months ago Miller held Mullikan to a 30-minute draw and since has been clamoring for a return battle.

"Wild" Mayne, clever Santa Monica youth faces Pete Dando in a three-fall, one-hour special while Bert Collins makes his second appearance in the first bout. This time Collins draws Tommy

This beautiful trophy in silver and ebony, showing a right-handed ball player in throwing action, was presented to Lefty Grove, ace of the Athletics' pitching staff who was voted the most valuable player to his team in the American league in 1931. The trophy, admired by Boss Connie Mack and Grove, was awarded by the Baseball Writers' association. It ought to make a handsome addition to the mantle of Grove's home in Lonaconing, Md., something to talk about, say in 1950.

WASHINGTON TO FIRE JOHNSON. REHIRE HARRIS?

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(INS)—

Twenty-five years of faithful service in baseball, it seems, is soon to be rewarded in the customary manner. Walter Johnson, as definitely associated with Washington as Pennsylvania avenue and the monument, is to be cast off at the end of the year in favor of a manager who can be depended on not to be too nice a human being and, in this way, earn the respect of his fellow men.

At least, this is the generally accepted story, rapidly gaining credence by reason of its persistence and the tacit agreement furnished and suggested by the silence of Mr. Clark Griffith.

Briefly, the situation is supposed to be this:

1. That Johnson, tolerant, gentle and too innately mild, has failed to assert his authority as a manager should and must.

2. That Joe Judge and Sam Rice, two long employees of the club, may receive some consideration for the position.

3. That Stanley Harris, the former court favorite who was banished in a moment of spleen, would receive more than either, if Frank Navin of Detroit, could be persuaded to relinquish his lien on Harris' services.

Harris is the young man who won Washington's only pennants in 1924 and 1925 and then went slightly wire-haired. It wasn't vanity or ego. He simply acquired too much success too soon and had to find out as time went on that life was just another astrakhan collar.

One minute it tickles you no end and the next it raises a rash on the back of the neck. Harris' outside interests had merely become too great and too varied and, in fact, too remote from those of baseball.

But he took his beating like a gentleman, made himself something more than a mild success in Detroit and recently when he returned to Washington for the old timers' reunion his greeting was an ovation. This is supposed to have been the "convincer" for Griffith.

How just they will go about the matter of convincing Mr. Navin hasn't been made clear. He took Harris when Mr. Griffith didn't want him, kept the young man when the situation wasn't exactly robust and only now is beginning to see some justification for his patience. Unless Harris himself wished to go, Mr. Navin would want to be no party to the proceeding and he'd be a fathead if he did.

WALNUT HOUSE HEADS TO TAKE UP JOB PLAN

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—A meeting of directors of the Richland Walnut association is to be held on Thursday to determine whether or not the plan sponsored by the industrial and banking committee of the Federal Reserve board should be adopted by the house. According to A. J. Smiley, secretary and manager of the association, the plan calls for an employment program patterned after one in effect in the New England states and recommended by President Hoover as a means of solving the unemployment situation.

The plan calls for either a 35-hour week of work for employees of concerns or for a five-day week instead of a six-day week. It is estimated, Mr. Smiley says, that if the first plan were in general operation it would take care of all of the unemployed in California and if the second plan were in effect it would take care of one half of the unemployed in every district.

The meeting of directors has been called following a request from K. P. Kingsbury, who is chairman of the committee and who is president of the Standard Oil company of California.

About 40 persons are employed at the Richland house during a season of about seven weeks' duration. If the plan is adopted it will double the number of persons employed, Mr. Smiley said.

The Richland house is now being overhauled in preparation for the handling of a crop of walnuts estimated at from 850 to 1000 tons.

Work of handling the crop will begin shortly after Labor Day.

STORY SAVES LIFE OF YOUNG ORANGE CANINE

ORANGE, Aug. 23.—A little bulldog found himself the most wanted canine in Orange following a brief story in The Register which told of the dog's having been condemned to death. Orange has a signal system in the plaza and a red light flashes when emergency calls are put through to the city hall after closing hours.

Patrolmen James Johnson, John Ettiste, G. W. Coltrane found themselves in the midst of a busy evening as kind-hearted persons of the community began to make it known that they would be glad to get the dog.

The dog was given to Jules Truemper, of Olive, and about 30 homes were offered to him afterward. Chief of Police Richards in his South Main street home answered his doorbell until nearly 11 p. m. in response to persons calling to save the bulldog's life and provide a home for him. Calls continued to come in for the dog Sunday.

The dog was placed in police charge after he had killed several chickens. Officers said they believed the dog had no intention of killing the fowls and was merely playing with them.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 23.—Because they didn't want newspapers to hear about their predicament, two young ladies of Huntington Beach drove from this city to their homes in cold and clammy bathing suits.

Miss Goldie Parks, one of the girls, was persuaded by her family to notify the Monrovia police and the Monrovia officers in turn told Huntington Beach police of the case.

The girls came to Huntington Beach police with friends on a wetter bike. They left their clothes in their car and when they returned to dress, discovered that a thief had made away with every article of clothing.

Hesitating to notify police because of the resulting publicity, they got into their car and drove the 30 miles to Monrovia in wet bathing suits. Both young women have severe colds today, according to word from Monrovia.

Will Give Pomona Fair Tickets To School Children

DISTRIBUTION TO BE MADE ON SEPTEMBER 12

ENGINEERS TO DISCUSS PLANS ON RIVER WORK

Caretakers and gardeners are busily engaged preparing the 14 Santa Ana grammar schools and the high school and junior college for the return of approximately 6500 students and 300 teachers on September 12 when the fall term of school opens.

At the same time the students are looking back on a happy vacation and planning to make every minute count until opening day. The slogan is "It won't be long now."

As every cloud has its silver lining the return to school this year will have its reward other than that of picking up the reins and driving onward and upward in scholastic attainments. Officials of the combined Tri-county fair to be presented at Pomona this year have announced that on the opening day of school all students will be given free tickets of admission to the fair.

The tickets to be given away to school students will admit them to the fair grounds on September 16 and to the beautiful new steel grandstand for the afternoon racing program on the same day.

Frank Henderson, superintendent of the Santa Ana city schools, has been notified that the tickets will be given to students. The only requirement in obtaining the tickets are that students register on opening day. The tickets will only be given away at that time and children who are not at school to register on opening day will lose out.

S. A. PILOT FORCED OUT OF AIR RACES

Hard luck overtook Joe Hager, Santa Ana flier, at Wilcox, Ariz., yesterday and forced him out of the Transcontinental Sweepstakes Air Derby in which he was competing. Engine trouble forced him to land in the Arizona town. As far as can be learned Hager landed without injury.

Fred Burlew, second Santa Ana flier in the race is continuing and checked in at the El Paso airport yesterday with 3,375 points. He was sixteenth in a field of 23 fliers still in the race at that checking point. Piloting a slower ship than many of the fliers Burlew expects to make up lost time in the hop from El Paso.

SPECIAL RATES FOR HOLIDAY ANNOUNCED

Persons using the cent-a-mile fares will have until midnight September 12 to complete their journeys. Under this arrangement, it was pointed out, ample time is provided for long-distance travel.

BOB SHULER TO SPEAK IN S. A. NEXT SATURDAY

Robert P. (Bob) Shuler, of Los Angeles, candidate for the United States Senate on the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition tickets, who is now finishing a campaign of the entire state, will speak in Orange county twice next Saturday.

The candidate will speak in Birch park at 3:30 p. m. and at Irvine park at 8 p. m.

During his campaign he has addressed 323 public audiences, in which he claims 175,000 people have personally heard his appeal for "free speech, human rights and economic justice," which he has announced as his platform.

Shuler has waged a unique battle in that he has toured the state alone, driving a Ford coupe and taking tin pan collections in order to pay the expenses of his campaign. He boasts that he has no campaign manager, political organization or partisan support. He has gone straight to the people, asking for no endorsements of leaders or of organizations.

In closing his campaign he has issued the following prophecies:

"First, the greatest protest vote ever recorded in California will be cast August 30.

"Second, open rebellion against partisan political dominance and control will be declared by the independent voters of the state.

"Third, the political racketeers, financial exploiters and economic betrayers of the people will receive a rebuke at the polls that will amount to a new declaration of independence on the part of the people.

"Fourth, self appointed organization heads and political chislers will find themselves unable to deliver. The people have discovered them.

"Fifth, wets and dries, Republicans and Democrats, men of all faiths, creeds and racial origins will join in proclaiming that the lips of men who protest against present-day conditions must not be closed.

"Sixth, free speech, human rights and economic justice will win overwhelmingly as the sun goes down August 30."

One of the deepest holes in the world was drilled in 1926 in Orange County, California. It was sunk 8201 feet.

GROWERS WILL BE INVITED TO JOIN NEW BODY

Citrus growers of Orange county will be invited to join the Associated Growers' association, formed in Redlands the past week, in order to control the shipment of inferior grades of fruit, according to information received today from San Bernardino county.

According to Allen Wheaton, Redlands, president of the association, the plan is to have a group of district associations, with representatives of those associations sitting on a control board.

No paid officers of the large marketing organizations will be permitted to join the organization, Wheaton said. Membership will be open to all citrus growers whether owning one acre or 100 acres.

Committees have been named for the various districts. Practically all growers of the Redlands-Highland section signed up, 239 joining, it is reported.

The organization aims to endeavor to work out a shipping plan to take the place of the pro-rated shipping agreement which collapsed following the withdrawal of several shippers.

Hostess Group Honors Bride-elect With Shower

Complimenting Miss Doris Lucille Messenger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Messenger of Laguna Beach, and bride-elect of Cecil S. Suddaby, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Suddaby, of Lemon Heights, was a charmingly arranged miscellaneous shower held Saturday afternoon, Mesdames Charles Sauters, Charles Sauters, John W. Sauters and Paul Owens, were hostesses. The Messenger-Suddaby nuptials will take place September 6.

The beautiful new W. S. Suddaby home, which was the setting for the affair, was a veritable flower garden with its many baskets of gladioli, zinnias, asters and other blooms. Floral decorations as well as all other details of the event stressed the rainbow hues of pink, orchid, yellow, blue and green.

Winners at Hearts

The game of "Hearts" was introduced as the afternoon diversion, with six tables in play. At the conclusion of the contest, checking of the clever heart-shaped score cards revealed that Mrs. Lulu Baxter and Mrs. Orvil Olcott held first and second high scores. A box of powder was awarded to Mrs. Baxter and a box of stationery to Mrs. Olcott. A small picture of Torrey Pines, the consolation prize, went to Mrs. S. W. Suddaby.

At the refreshment hour, the hostesses placed dainty white luncheon cloths on the card tables, while the rainbow tints were observed in the glassware, flowers, candies and nut cups. The bride-elect's table was especially charming with lilacs of the valley, and other details of snowy white. The shades were drawn and the glow from the tall candles nestling in paper flowers centering the tables, furnished the light for serving the delectable menu.

The two course repast served included tea, dainties in keeping with a heart motif.

As a climax to the happy occasion, the hostesses presented the honored guest with a white heart-shaped box, bearing clusters of pink roses. On opening the gift, Miss Messenger found it to contain many pretty wrapped packages, an inspection of which revealed linens, glassware, china, an electric iron and vases, for use in her future home.

Relatives From Texas Hold Reunion

A two weeks' reunion in California, with the home of Mrs. J. M. Simmons, 1112 West Sixth street, as headquarters, is being enjoyed by relatives from Texas and this state.

Sunday a memorable dinner was held in the home of Mrs. Simmons, where the group of relatives had gathered to surprise her. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Simmons and daughter, Mrs. Kathryn, of Beaville, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. King and sons, Roy and Sam, of Longview, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Simmons and children, Gordon and Shirley, of Ventura, were in the party, as well as Mrs. J. M. Simmons and her daughter, Miss Bess Marie Simmons, of Santa Ana. Charles Nugent, a friend of the family, also was present.

F. M. Simmons, T. J. Simmons and Mrs. King are sons and daughter of Mrs. J. M. Simmons of this city. It had been nine years since the Santa Ana woman had seen her son, F. M. Simmons. Her daughter, Mrs. King, is well known here, where she formerly made her home. She will be remembered as Miss Ora Simmons.

The relatives from Texas will be joined week-ends by the Ventura family.

Because of the G. A. R. encampment being held this week at Pacific Palisades, there will be no meeting of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., on Wednesday, the regular meeting date.

The Martha Washington club will have a covered dish luncheon tomorrow at 12 o'clock at Irvine park, meeting first at the home of Mrs. Pauline Decker, 217 South Main street.

The Women's Aid of Richland Avenue Methodist church will hold a benefit dinner Friday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock in the dining room of the church bungalow. The public is invited.

Members of the Indoor Sports and Good Sports clubs of Southern California have been invited to attend an all day picnic to be held Thursday at Tropic lodge, 384 Cliff drive, near the pier, at Laguna Beach. The club's sponsor is G. A. Allison Phelps of station KFVD. Thursday's occasion will honor the birthdays of Alice Lighthart of Laguna Beach and Mrs. E. Davis of Long Beach and Mrs. E. Davis of Long Beach.

Good Sports club members are requested to bring picnic lunches. Coffee will be provided for all.

Mrs. Russick reports that the fine spirit of co-operation shown by all in the camp was responsible for much of the outing's success. From the start of the vacation, when the girls were taken to camp in a truck driven by Mr. Hutton, phases of the excursion worked out with an exceptional smoothness, she reported.

Benefit Party Given For Church

A neat sum for the treasury of St. Ann's church was raised Sunday afternoon and evening at a benefit dinner and evening at the grounds of the Charles Borchard ranch home, Fairview avenue. A large group of church members and friends attended.

While dinner was served, a led program was presented.

Approaching Marriage Is Incentive for Shower

Guests arrived at an early hour, to spend much of the time working on the quilt which, when completed, is to be presented to the bride-to-be. They utilized their needles again in embroidering tea towels for Miss Bowe. In addition to the latter gifts, the honored guest received an assortment of miscellaneous packages from the assembled guests.

Election of delegates to the state convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs, to take place at Yosemite September 9 and 10, will constitute the chief business feature of the next meeting of the Santa Ana B. and P. W. club, which will have its setting in the clubhouse on Lido Isle Monday evening, according to arrangements perfected at yesterday's session in Ketter's cafe. Members attending yesterday's luncheon heard Mary Burke King conduct a survey of outstanding books of recent publication.

Miss Vanche Plumb heads the committee in charge of plans for the forthcoming Lido Isle party, which will consist of swimming for the early arrivals; a dinner in the clubhouse at 6:30 o'clock, and a business discussion following. Working with Miss Plumb on the committee will be Miss Genevieve Humiston, Mrs. Ruth Ellis and Mrs. Kate Walters.

A report by Mrs. Hazel Northcross conveyed to club members an interesting impression of the Southern District board meeting which B. and P. W. club representatives attended in the home of Mrs. Florence Gallentine in Venice last Saturday. Matters which will be voted upon at the state convention were considered by the board, Mrs. Northcross stated.

The Dressing Makes or Mars Crab Salad

Standard culinary fashions are not the fad of the moment but the safe and sure way cooks have found best in handling various foods. Take crab salad for instance.

Nearly every recipe for this salad calls for a cooked salad dressing, not mayonnaise. I was in a hurry yesterday and thought oil mayonnaise would be just as good, so the salad was mixed with mayonnaise and set into the refrigerator to chill for luncheon. When I took out the bowl the salad was a sorry mess—watery, rather tough, and altogether blah.

The starch base in a cooked dressing seems to seal the watery juices in crab and cabbage, while the oil and vinegar have the opposite effect.

A quick and easy cooked dressing calls for these ingredients:

1 egg, well beaten with 1 tablespoon flour
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
4 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons butter
Beat egg, flour, salt, sugar and mustard together in a bowl, add vinegar and butter, stir bowl in hot water and stir until the dressing becomes thick and smooth. Cool it and thin with cream beaten in, or evaporated milk.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Pie Crust

3 cups flour
1 level cup chilled shortening
1 teaspoon baking powder
About 3-4 cup ice water

I find it a great convenience to have a jar of ready mixed dry materials for pie crust—it's but a moment's work to add ice water and mix the required amount. This recipe makes four large double crust pies, and the ice water quantity is supposedly added when the entire amount is mixed for a "batch of pies." Leave dry and keep in a jar if only single crusts are made from time to time.

flour if an all-purpose flour is not at hand. Put the 3 cups of sifted flour into the sieve with salt and baking powder and sift into a big mixing bowl. Do this quite some time before you are ready to make the crust, so that the bowl and flour may be put into the refrigerator to chill.

Measure the cupful of shortening—either vegetable or lard—cut it into the flour until it resembles a coarse meal. Add the ice water slowly, blending and cutting the flour until it will hold together. You may not need the whole amount of water as flours differ in texture.

Turn the mixed crust onto the moulding board, pat into a round cake, then pinch off what is needed for a single crust. Set all trimmings aside, form into a cake, roll out, sprinkle with grated cheese, fold and again roll for cheese sticks.

Divided into four parts each pie has, supposedly, 725 energy calories in the crust, but this is not the case. Trimmings have calory value as well as the pie crust.

so the four pies should be estimated at 550 calories for crust, fillings extra, of course.

THE TINYMITES

When Duncy and the monkey stepped before the jail, kind Duncy hopped right down and said, "I'll go inside and tell the judge we're here."

"Your fine these cocoanuts will pay. Then we'll be on our merry way. Now, don't you worry, little monkey! There's not a thing to fear."

The judge proved kind as kind could be. "The monkey now is free," said he. "I'll have the cocoanuts brought in. You've done your very best."

"The cocoanuts will do some good 'cause we will use them as we should and feed them to the other thoughtless monkeys we arrest."

When Duncy walked outside the jail he heard a loud and merry "Hall!" It quite surprised him when he saw the other Tiniest.

Said Scouty, "We know what you've done and our respect you've more than won. You've saved this little monkey, which we think was more than fair."

The monkey then said, "It's my turn to do a favor. You will learn that I'm appreciative. Come along, now. Follow me!"

"The monkey race track's near at hand and we will see some races grand. They'll also be as funny as you ever hope to see."

And that was right. The race track was an interesting place because the seats where all the monkeys sat were made of limbs of trees.

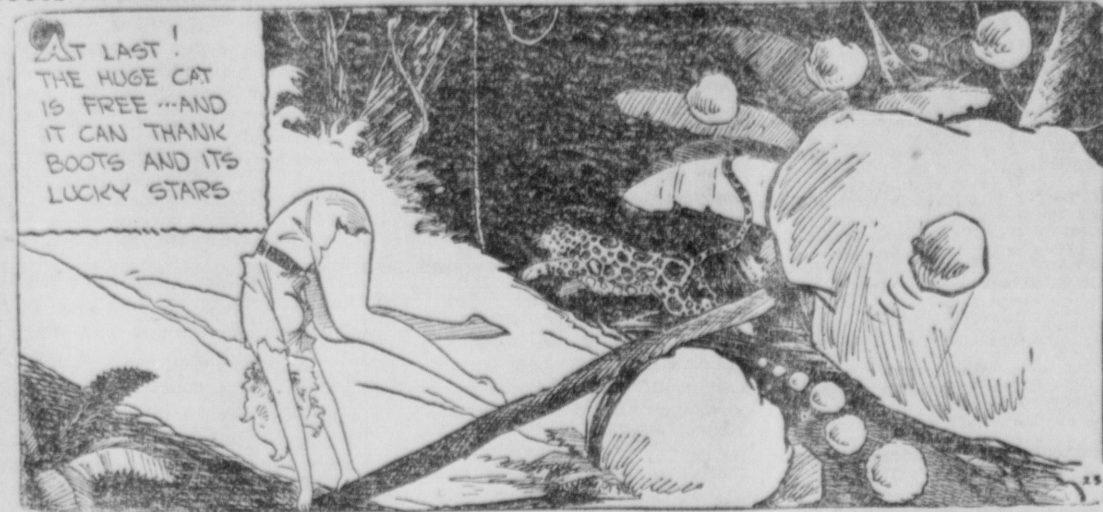

The monkey said, "The race is set to start. A thrill you're going to get. Now, make yourselves real comfortable and sit down, if you please."

A smile soon spread on Scouty's face. Said he, "Here comes the monkey race." And then a monkey dashed by with another on its back. The Tiniest friend said, "My, what fun! That's how a monkey race is run. The little fellow wins unless he falls off, to the track."

Diagnosing Mankind's Ailments Through Study of Famous Paintings

How the Baltimore physician's unique clinic, with works of art instead of human patients, shed a revealing light on the diseases and deformities of ancient days

Botticelli's famous painting of the Madonna and Child . . . in which Dr. Ruhrah finds that the knobby finger joints of both figures show that they suffered from arthritis . . . while the child also had rickets.

By JANE STAFFORD

A BALTIMORE physician has recently held a strange sort of clinic. The patients were all figures painted on canvas or sculptured in bronze many centuries ago. They could not tell him how they felt or where they had a pain or any other symptoms. Yet he was able to diagnose their ailments.

You may have looked at the same pictures and statues many times and never noticed that they were commentaries on the diseases and deformities humanity suffered from during the artist's time. It takes a physician to walk through an art gallery and to see the range of ailments that have afflicted mankind at all stages of history.

It was a study of history that started the Baltimore doctor, Dr. John Ruhrah, on the investigations which led finally to his holding this strange sort of clinic at a recent meeting of his fellow physicians.

Dr. Ruhrah devotes himself especially to treating diseases of children, and he wanted to know all about how such conditions had been treated from earliest times. In fact, he was interested not only in the methods of early pediatricians, but in their biographies as well.

So, by way of recreation from his practice, he delved into old books and records, and since pictures are good records, he studied them, too.

IN Copenhagen, at the Carlsberg Glyptothek, which is a museum of antiquities, Dr. Ruhrah found a 30-century-old Egyptian stone on which are carved the figures of a young prince and his family.

It is thought that the prince suffered from infantile paralysis in his youth, for his right leg shows the deformity typical of this disease. The shortened, wasted limb is, unfortunately, such a familiar sight because of the frequent outbreaks of the disease today that you will have no difficulty in recognizing it from the picture.

The young man of the stone picture was Ruma, prince of the eighteenth dynasty of Egyptian rulers, whose reigns stretched from 1580 to 1350 B. C. Ruma had charge of the temple of the goddess Astarte in Memphis, from which the carved stone doubtless came.

But Dr. Ruhrah questioned whether infantile paralysis really was the disease from which he suffered. He pointed out that the paralysis and deformity of his leg might have been due to some other disease affecting the nervous system, or to a hip joint disease contracted when Ruma was a baby.

Whatever caused the deformity, the stone carving is an indication of the realism of these ancient Egyptian artists, who did not hesitate to portray even princes with well-marked signs of human frailty and disease.

THE second patient whom Dr. Ruhrah called at his clinic was a lad he found in a corner of Raphael's famous painting of the Transfiguration. You are doubtless familiar with the picture, but did your eyes ever stray from the central figure to the group in the lower right-hand corner?

In the midst of this excited group a man and woman are supporting a lad who is apparently seized in some sort of convulsion. Dr. Ruhrah called attention particularly to his eyes and hands.

The eyes are wildly rolled upward and outward so that chiefly the whites show. The boy's mouth hangs open. His hands are flung out in a meaningless gesture, but with the fingers held in cramp-like positions.

To the physician, these hands and eyes show that the lad suffered from some disease of the nervous system. According to the symptoms given by the child's father in the Biblical account of the scene, the lad was suffering from epilepsy. He frothed at the mouth, he was "lunatic" and he had fits during which he fell into the fire or into the water.

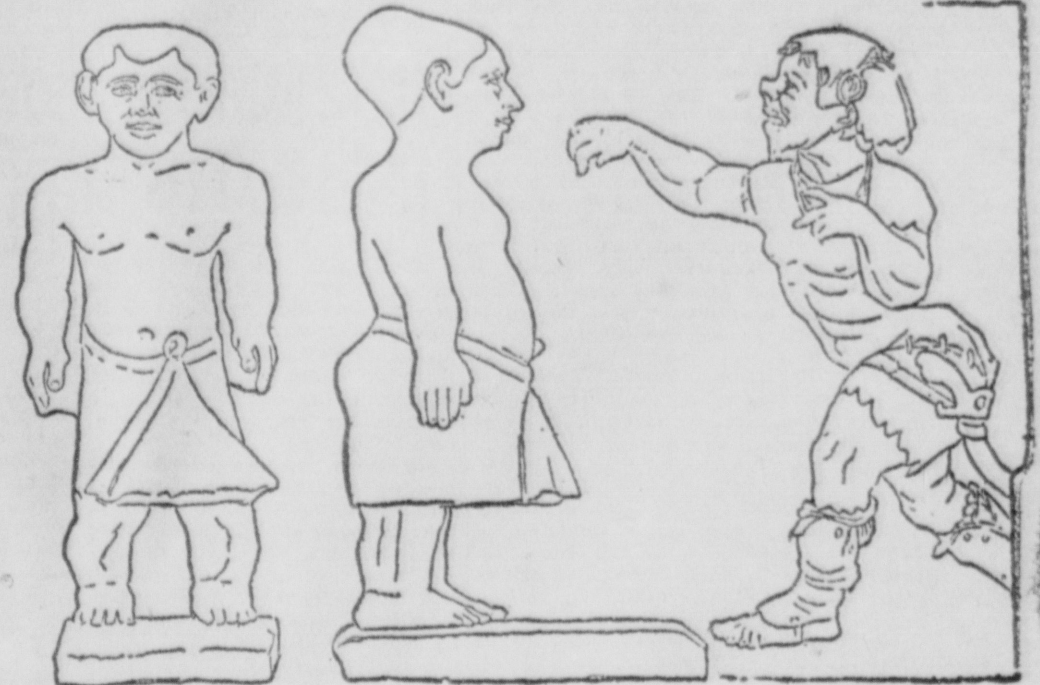

Epilepsy even today is not very well understood, but physicians are agreed that it is a disease of the nervous system. The lad in Raphael's painting, judging from his appearance, might have had epilepsy, or he might have had some other ailment affecting his brain and nervous system.

IN another of Raphael's paintings, the one showing St. Peter and St. John on the steps of the Temple, is a cripple with twisted legs and feet. Considering him from the purely medical viewpoint, he suffered from spastic paralysis.

According to the Bible story he suffered from some congenital disease; that is, he was born with the condition which prevented his legs from developing normally so that he could walk. He is shown in the painting at the moment when St. Peter took him by the hand and healed him. Raphael used his imagination in this picture, Dr. Ruhrah thinks, because if the man had suffered from spastic paralysis from birth he would not have been able to exercise his legs enough to get so much muscular development as he has in this painting.

For the next demonstration at his unique

arthritis. This characteristic sign is especially noticeable in the Child's right forefinger.

In addition, Dr. Ruhrah called attention to the shape of the Child's head and his bowed legs, which indicate that he also suffered from rickets.

SIGNS of disease and deformity appeared in the paintings and sculpture of ancient times for various reasons. Sometimes it may have been merely because the artist's models suffered from these conditions. Or they may have been very prevalent during the artist's time, so that he either did not notice them as being unusual, or else he painted them intentionally because that was the way most people looked to him.

However, certain conditions which are now seen merely as symptoms of disease were in former times considered marks of great beauty. Such, for instance, is the enlarged thyroid gland, or goiter.

was an achondroplastic dwarf, Dr. Ruhrah said.

This tiny fellow shows obvious signs of a condition known to physicians by the long name of achondroplasia. He has a normal sized head and trunk, but his arms and legs are very short.

The fingers of this sculptured figure are not quite so characteristic. You can see they are of almost equal length, but they should diverge from the middle joints to give the hand a trident shape.

Dwarfs of this type usually reach a height of about three or four feet. They are well-nourished and strong and of average intelligence. Their condition is due to the fact that the long bones of their bodies united with the cartilage of the joints too soon and consequently the long bones could not grow normally. This is what gives these dwarfs their short, stumpy arms and legs.

Another type of dwarf often seen in paintings is the cretin. These creatures, familiar to you in the paintings of the Spanish court by Velasquez, failed to grow normally because from birth their thyroid glands did not secrete enough of the hormone, thyroxin.

From a painting by Petrus Brandel, Dr. Ruhrah called his next patient the blind Tobias of the Bible.

YOU remember that Tobias' son was led by an angel to a lake where he caught a fine fish. Then, still under the angel's guidance and according to her directions, he removed the gallbladder of the fish and laid it on his father's eyes. This restored Tobias' sight.

In Brandel's picture you see the angel guiding the son's hand as he applies the fish gallbladder to his father's eyes.

In this connection, Dr. Ruhrah told a story of modern medical practice which almost exactly reversed the old Biblical tale of Tobias and his son. A young Baltimore physician who specializes in treating diseases of the eye was working in a clinic in Boston when a man was brought in suffering from ulcers of the cornea of the eye.

The man was a fish dealer. He said that while cleaning a fish he accidentally slit the gallbladder and some of the gall squirted up into his eye, causing the trouble from which he sought relief at the clinic. The young physician was very much interested in what he believed a most unusual case.

When he returned home, he told his father, also a physician and a distinguished scholar as well, about this rare case, which, he said, was probably the only one of its kind on record, as he had been able to find no reference in medical literature to blindness or eye injury connected with the gallbladder of a fish.

Whereupon the father replied: "You may have studied the medical literature, my son, but you do not know your Bible very well," and proceeded to tell him the old tale of Tobias.

The last two patients brought to Dr. Ruhrah's clinic were two very distinguished persons—the mother-in-law and father-in-law of the Egyptian king, Tutankhamen.

Dr. Ruhrah showed a picture, carved on stone, of King Akhnaton and his wife, Queen Nefertiti, who was herself a famous beauty, worshipping the sun disk and incidentally getting a good dose of ultraviolet light from the rays of the sun which you can see streaming down on them and their children.

Monna Pomona, a lovely Italian lady painted by Rossetti . . . who, like many other beauties in Rossetti's paintings, suffered from a goiter.

clinic, Dr. Ruhrah showed an entire group of patients on a canvas. In a Berlin gallery hangs a painting by the Italian artist, Sandro Botticelli, of the Madonna and Child with the two Saint Johns. Both Mother and Child, Dr. Ruhrah pointed out, suffered from arthritis, or rheumatism, as it is sometimes called popularly.

If you look closely at this painting, you will see that the Mother, the Child and even possibly the Saint at the right, have knobby finger joints that characterize people who suffer from

Do you remember the lovely maidens painted by Rossetti, and did you ever notice that their swan-like necks were goitrous? The beautiful Monna Pomona is a particularly good example of this type of so-called beauty and also of the simple goiter seen commonly in Switzerland and in some parts of the United States, where the drinking water and food are lacking in iodine.

For his next patient, Dr. Ruhrah called on a statuette of one Khnoumptou, the ancient Egyptian god of perfume. This tiny creature

Tracing the history of the citrus industry and the promotion plan the speaker declared that the plan failed because the employees of the M. O. ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—Ben Stroup of 225 North Olive street reported to the police department that a bathing suit and a pair of slippers had been stolen from his garage on Saturday.

A Ranker of West and Romney drive reported to police headquarters that an electric clock, bag of laundry and a guitar were stolen from his home last evening.

The proprietor of the Busy Bee cafe reported that three men came to his place, during the week end, ordered meals, and after finishing them feigned intoxication and walked out without paying for them. The men later came in and paid for the meals when requested to do so by the police.

R. E. Gray was booked and locked up on an intoxication charge during the week end when police officers answered a call to inspect a suspiciously parked car on South Atchinson street. They found Gray alongside of the car in an intoxicated condition.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—R. E. Gray appeared in Judge Frank Tausch's recorder's court and paid a fine of $15 and was released.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—R. A. Corbett was arrested on an intoxication charge last evening as he was wandering up and down the hallway at the McFarland apartments and was locked up for the night. He was released on a $25 bail to appear before Judge Frank Tausch on August 31.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—Residents of the Anaheim district have been asked to be on the watch for two mules that strayed away last night. One mule is light and one dark and anyone seeing them is asked to phone 2777.

REV. EIDSATH IN ORBA LINDA TALK

YORBA LINDA, Aug. 22.—The Rev. S. M. Eidsath of Mendocino, formerly of Orange, a guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Reeves, was speaker at the union services of the Friends and Methodist churches Sunday night at the Methodist church, where the Rev. Crawford Trotter presided.

The Rev. Mr. Reeves sang a solo, "I'm Going All the Way With Jesus." A choir of the young people of both churches led the singing.

The guest speaker took as his theme "Climbing With Christ," and as his text Mark 9:2.

He outlined three points from which those who are "with Christ" are climbing and five points toward which they are making the goal.

The three points toward which they are climbing are away from selfishness, away from failure and away from our personal hurts to likeness with God, fellowship with Christ, seeing Christ, the summit of Christian experience and to proper perspective of things below us.

LAUNCH DRIVE FOR FUNDS NEXT FRIDAY TELLS NEED FOR CHANGE IN LAWS

ANAHEIM, Aug. 22.—With the appointments of local committee members for the drive to raise funds for the Children's Health Camp above Irvine park that will start on Friday, Victor G. Loly, district chairman, has called a meeting for Thursday evening at 8:15 at 108 West Center street.

Bill Payne has been named chairman of the club and special director of the residential area and Fred Robbins, business division chairman.

A motion picture showing the activities of the health camp will be shown at the meeting.

COSTA MESA, Aug. 22.—Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce members at their regular monthly session in Greener's hall here last night heard Mayor Thomas Murphy, of San Clemente, candidate for assembly, who spoke on legislation needed to correct banking laws.

Director Fred Opp was named as chairman of a committee to arrange for a full discussion of the school tax problem at the September meeting of the chamber. Those present were Leroy Anderson, Fred Opp, Roy Davis, D. J. Dodge, E. A. Rea, C. G. Huston, S. H. Davidson, Goss Gracie, Emil Greener and Lloyd Willcutt.

second out. Higgins wheeled toward second and tried to double Daley off that bag but Schrott let his hurried throw get away from him and Denney trotted in with the third run of the inning. DeBusk grounded out to retire the side.

Birington averted serious trouble in the seventh inning only because of a fine play by Higgins. Leavitt Daley's single, Merrill's safe bunt and Preble's infield hit filled the bases with one away. Ballard smashed the first ball pitched him on a dead line over first base and Higgins, the tallest infielder in the league, leaped high into the air and pulled the ball down with his barehand, saving at least two runs. Ballard's blow was labeled for extra bases, perhaps a home run. Denney's strikeout ended the threat.

Anaheim got only three men past first base, two to third.

Two Die On Third McNabb singled to open the game, went to second on Higgins' infield out and third on a passed ball. He died there when Kohler popped out by Schuchardt.

Ed Daley's error in the fourth, took second on a passed ball and stole third but two were gone when he started his one-man rally and Bell fanned for the final out. The only other Valencia who peaked past first was Kohler who walked to start the ninth and moved up on Schuchardt's infield out. Then Bell fanned for the third time in succession and Moody tried to Ed Daley for the last out of the ball game.

The clubs collide at Anaheim Wednesday night, return here Friday. Tickets for reserved seats at Anaheim go on sale at Walker's sporting goods store here tomorrow at 7:30 a. m.

VITAMINS AND TRUCK GARDENS

A generation ago we did not know of vitamins. We ate what we wanted to, we never thought of a balanced diet, and somehow we seemed to get away with it. For the last 15 years we have been hearing more and more about the curative value of proper foods. The farmer is dispensing with meat and doughnuts and pie for breakfast. He still eats a hearty dinner, for his work in the open field demands it. There has been a complete revolution in the eating habits of the people during the last 20 years.

The director of the New York office of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets, George G. Royce, reports that the discovery of the need of vitamins for proper physical functioning has enormously increased the need of such vegetables as are grown in truck gardens. These vitamins are found principally in leafy green vegetables, eggs, and milk. Lettuce is very rich in vitamins, and a great popular demand has been created for lettuce. Seventeen states are shipping lettuce to the New York market. The shipments go from the Pacific Coast and the Southern states. Nine thousand cars a week are necessary to supply the New York market with lettuce. All but 12 per cent of these shipments come from states outside of New York. The "iceberg" lettuce comes mostly from the Pacific coast; while the "Big Boston" variety comes mostly from the South.

Thus has the discovery of the vitamins furnished a market for the farmers' products which has enriched many of them. The transportation of fresh vegetables throughout the year, something unknown to the preceding generation, has been a great benefit not only to the farmer, but to the railroads. The aviation industry is also reaping the benefits of it. The lighter vegetables can be carried in airplanes in considerable volume. So do economic changes come; and we cannot predict what flourishing industry today will be obsolete tomorrow, and what new method of machinery or chemical need will change the whole character of our economic life. Things move fast in these days.

A bill proposed in Pennsylvania would restrict the size and load of trucks. Thus helping both the taxpayer and motorist to get ahead, we suppose.

TUBERCULOSIS NO LONGER A MENACE

Tuberculosis was once known as the great white scourge. It is no longer so. According to a report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the death rate from tuberculosis during the last twenty years has decreased from 137.9 per 100,000 to 75.3 per 100,000. These figures are based upon the mortality rate of its policy holders. The decrease last year in the death rate was 8.1 per cent; and last year's rate was the minimum up to that time. These averages, no doubt, obtain among the population of the country in general. At this rate, we shall probably see the disease rooted out in the near future. This decrease has not come about of itself. There has been organized work directed toward a goal, to which these figures represent only a milestone.

So far as they go these figures are good news. They give us hope that other diseases, which still take a large toll of human lives annually, will sometime be conquered. We know that diphtheria is no longer a menace. The new surgery has conquered ailments like peritonitis and stoppage, which at one time were generally fatal. Pneumonia and cancer still puzzle the chemist and the medical expert. Millions of dollars have been expended in research on these two scourges, but with little success. Insulin has conquered diabetes. Some day we are going to get news that the most dreaded of all diseases has been conquered by the genius of the expert. Then, we all look forward to living to a ripe old age, with death a welcome friend at the end of a healthy and a happy life.

WISDOM FROM THE YOUNG PEOPLE

Yesterday at the World Council of Youth being held at Pasadena one of the speakers made the assertion that prejudice against Chinese resulted from jealousy of the superiority of Chinese laborers.

Another delegate to the conference, an economics student at the U. C. L. A. took exception to the statement. Her reasoning is interesting. She said in part:

"The reason for prejudice against California Orientals is not economic at all, but dates from the attempt of corrupt California politicians to divert public opinion from their own questionable practices. The Chinese did not compete with American labor in industry, and largely confined their work to that which Americans would not do—labor in the rice fields and grape vineyards."

That statement is only partly true. It is true that politicians divert public opinion from their own questionable practices by inflaming the populace with prejudices. The emotions of the people are easily aroused on some things. The politician knows this and uses his knowledge. He talks about those things and the people forget other more important issues. No one is to blame except the people themselves for so long as they respond in such fashion there will be people who will take advantage of their poorly controlled reactions.

Some things aren't worth getting hot and bothered about but it is precisely those things that many people do fuss about and expend their precious energies in trying to do something about. None of us humans are wholly rational.

A TOSPY-TURVY LIFE FOR THIS LAD

What a queer topsy-turvy life is "Jackie" Coogan's! He yesterday enrolled at Santa Clara University for a four year drama course. When he graduates he intends to try for the "talkies." As a small boy he made a great deal of money being natural. It paid him. He was the idol of the people. "Jackie" Coogan was loved. In him people saw all the joy and pathos of childhood and children, winsome, charming, unspoiled children, are universally beloved. Now for years "Jackie" has been going to school. Four years more he will study, specialize, and hope to eventually get a job in the "talkies." For years he will work in order to make the attempt to get back to the place in public favor he once held.

That boy must have an interesting philosophy. A topsy-turvy life like his makes one think. He must have had to evaluate the acclaim of the multitude. Now you have it and now you haven't it. It is ephemeral to say the least. It hangs on a thread. In his case it held on so uncontrollable a thing as growing up.

Wanted: A Cobbett

The Christian Science Monitor

At the present moment there seems need of a pamphleteer who can write on economics with clearness and force. Pamphleteers enough there are, and the future may appraise some of them as peers of William Cobbett in this field, but none so far stands out so conspicuously as did he. Though Cobbett may not have been the soundest of economists, he could pamphleteer—and in an English prose that of his kind has never been surpassed.

Cobbett had a long and turbulent career. He was sometimes right and sometimes wrong, but he faced adversity always as something to be dominated. It is hard to believe how deeply entrenched were the abuses, social, economic and political, against which he tilted. If today injustice and purlindness too often block progress, let us remember that Cobbett went to jail for an attack on fogging in the army.

Hard may seem men's present burdens. But there have been harder, and this yeoman turned writer made himself the champion of the inarticulate oppressed. He did not always show a keen sense of good form, he fell much too easily into vituperation, he never seemed to agree with anyone for long, he spoke with a resounding and disquieting plainness, but he was the man for his time.

Cobbett, for all his vigor and industry, could never have accomplished what he did had he not acquired the art of writing a prose that ought to be a model for the publicist. Some may think that style belongs to the aesthetics of writing, that it may be an amiable but not constructive talent, and that its use is negligible in results. No greater mistake could be made. Style is the necessary medium for expressed thinking, and there is nothing more dignified than honest thinking. Clearness and naturalness are one too common in the vast mass of public writing today, and they are very much needed. The people require such vital aids to understand their problems.

We live in an era complicated almost beyond belief, that is, in seeming. To say complications cannot be simplified and that we must become the slaves of hugeness, is to confess ourselves beaten by a puzzle of our own making. Cobbett would not have made such confession.

No More Zuiderzee

The Oakland Tribune

Farewell, Zuiderzee! An eighteen-mile dike which Dutch engineers have completed has divorced Holland's "Old Man Sea" from the North Sea. Part of what was a salt-water gulf is to become a fresh water lake and a greater part is to be pumped dry and developed into farm-lands. The lake will be known as IJssel Lake or IJsselmeer and the older name will disappear.

In separating the Zuiderzee from the ocean the Dutch are no more than reclaiming their own, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Six hundred years ago much of the late Zuiderzee was dry land, protected from the North Sea by sand dunes. Then the sea rolled in. Today a huge man-made dike will make possible an increase in the total land area of The Netherlands of 7 per cent, and in the arable land of 10 per cent.

The Zuiderzee basin, with an area of more than 550,000 acres, is almost as large as the State of Rhode Island. Situated in the very heart of northern Holland, it has long played an important part in the commerce and social life of the country. While Holland is rejoicing with her engineers in their greatest victory over their ancient foe, the sea, the fishing villages and quaint islands of the Zuiderzee, beloved of tourists, are silent. Most of the sea ports along the shores of the Zuiderzee are destined to become inland farming villages, connected with salt-water only by canals, while islands may be hillocks, only slightly raised from encircling fields of grain, vegetables and flowers.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

GIVING 'EM A HAND

If robins, wrens and orioles
Had not a thing to fear,
If nothing filled their little souls
Save happiness and cheer,
If they had not a worldly care
Or trouble all day long,
They'd have some cause to fill the air
With song.

But scarce an hour in the day
But they the presence feel
Of some great, greedy bird of prey
Who seeks a dainty meal.
When, having fed their hungry young,
They murmur, "Well, that's that!"
They glance below and find a hungry cat.

And, as above their nests they poise
They shudder in alarm
To view some small sling-shot wielding boys
Aboard to do them harm.
A sudden pull, a sudden snap!
And their last thread is spun!
A songster's life is not a happy one.

If you and I by greedy foes
Were harried all day long,
Could we devote, do you suppose,
Our time and thought to song?
Could we pipe carols from a tree
In "some melodious plot?"
I think it probable that we Could not.

Little Benny's

Note Book by Lee Pape

My new lyberry book is called

For Fair Honor's Sake, all about knives of old tawking in old fashioned language and challenging each other to duels and everything, and before supper I went and looked in the kitchen out of curiosity and our cook Nora was washing dishes at the sink with her back turned, and I said, G, I smell something good, what's in the oven, Nora?

"You'll find out in due and proper time and not before, so now don't be annoying me, Nora said, and I said, Well if I guess rite in 3 guesses, will you give me a advants sample?

I'll give you a advants sample but it won't be what you're looking for,

now leave me to me work, you pesky varmint, Nora said.

Being a insult, and I said, What ho, I'll brook no such words from yon female, I challenge you to a duel, I'm a knife of old.

I'll give you a bet in a minnit that'll send you higher than a kite of old, Nora said, and I said, Hah, she exempts my challenge, choose your weppons, catfiff wench.

I choose dish cloths, Nora said.

And she quick turned around and threw a soaked wet dish cloth at me all rolled up, and it hit me with a splash rite in the front of the face, feeling farsee and taisting werse, and Nora said, And after that I choose brooms.

And she reached for the broom and I ran out in the front hall

so fast I tripped over the rug and slid about 6 feet on the floor just as pop came in the front door with his key, saying, For Peet sake what's you think you're doing?

Just playing, I said, and he said,

Are you having a lot of fun? and I said, No sir, just excitement, and he said, Well you better go out on the front steps a little while and let it cool off.

Meaning the excitement.

Wich I did.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today

From The Register Files

AUGUST 23, 1918

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsile, Mrs. Raymond Marsile and Mrs. E. A. Biggs were in San Francisco to visit Raymond Marsile and Martin Biggs, in navy training at Goat Island, and Frank Biggs, stationed at Camp Fremont.

Letters were received from Henry Rohrs of Garden Grove, written from Base Hospital No. 24, in France, where he was receiving treatment for wounds incurred in the big American drive of July 18.

The letters to Dana Truesdell, with whom he had made his home since he was 11 years old, described in vivid language, the drive in which the Americans took "20,000 prisoners, over 400 guns, recovered lots of ground, and let the Germans know we could fight," according to the wounded soldier.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

I SEE A PLANT GROW

Yesterday, within the space of ten minutes, I saw a plant grow to full maturity, bear fruit, and die.

As a child I often stood with awe before the mystery of plant growth and wondered what it might be like to be able to see the actual processes of growth as I saw my playmates run back and forth across the village lawn.

I had to wait forty years to see it, but yesterday the thing I wondered about as a child happened.

I saw the processes of growth as clearly and as plainly as this morning I see motors streaming by in the street below my Chicago hotel window.

Conan Doyle had not come back to show me marvels in a scene. I was not under the delusive spell of a magician.

I was simply watching an educational film on plant growth.

A pea was dropped on the ground. Soon its side burst open and a white sprout, or whatever the experts call it, came peering with manifest curiosity out into the open.

This white sprout turned downward and began nosing about for a way to burrow downward into the soil. It nosed about with an appearance of almost animal sense.

Soon it began its downward journey into the soil which had been cut away so the camera could catch the downward journey of the root. I saw the root branch off to the right and to the left.

Then another sprout began to lift its head into the air. It had a little of the look of a dinosaur's head. It seemed almost in pain as it withered and twisted and unfolded itself. Then came the unfolding of the flowers. A bee came to steal its nectar and to catch a cargo of its pollen to carry, as a kind of traveling salesman of the plant world, to another plant that fertilization might take place.

I saw protoplasm, the stuff of life, racing back and forth in pollen tubes as a mountain stream might leap and foam.

Another pea dropped on stony ground tried the same life process. The white sprout peered out of the open side of the pea and began nosing about for a way downward into the soil. But there was virtually no soil. And it seemed to me that the sprout actually grew faster in its quest of soil. Finally, defeated in its quest of fertile earth, the upward reaching sprouts and branches of the pea began to wither, and death came with something of the jerk of death I have seen when animals and men die.

All this was not trick representation. It was actual photography of growth and death. Microscopic and time-lapse photography had caught the slow growth of the pea and then had speeded up the picture to bring the life cycle within the space of ten minutes.

The teacher who is willing to ignore and to let lie unused so amazing a teaching medium as this is either blind to progress or simply scared lest the film become too vivid a competitor to mediocre teachers.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

TIT FOR TAT

The children were in the park for their morning airing. Mabel aged three slapped Robin aged three and a half.

"Look there now, Mabel has slapped Robin. There, I knew it. He just stands there and cries. I'll settle that young lady if I never do another thing in this world."

The nurse hurried down to the two children. Robin stood apart crying with one eye cocked toward possible help. "Did she hit you, Robin?"

"Yes," sobbed Robin. "Mabel. I'm going to smack you hard every time you smack anybody. There. How do you like it?"

With promptness and accuracy Mabel showed her. She smacked nurse squarely in the face as she knelt before her.

"What? You little vixen. You will, will you?" and she smacked Mabel again on the hand. And Mabel smacked back. This performance continued until the nurse's patience was exhausted and the child's hands were red and swollen.

"You are the very worst child ever I saw and I'll tell your mother. You'll get well smacked for this. Nobody can speak to you without getting a slap. We'll see."

This plan is about the best possible to teach a child to slap. Children do what their elders do. If the grownups slap the little folks the little folks will slap every chance they get. Slapping is fun. Unless of course it is turned the other way and then it isn't at all funny.

When a little child slaps another, er, remove the offending child but do not slap. It is unwise to do the very thing you are disciplining the child for. You slap me, why can't I slap you? That is logical enough. There is no reason why anybody can slap anybody. There is every reason for no slapping. Remove the child. Let him stay by himself long enough to feel the isolation. That is the first thing to do. When he asks to go back tell him why he was taken away, and why he must stay away for this session. Experience will teach him.

When little children slap each other in self defense, keep hands off. If one child spit in another child's face and he promptly slaps the spitter, turn your back. That is justifiable self defense. It will not hurt two little boys to punch each other a few times in an effort to make a point clear between them. That is a healthy demonstration. Only when the slapping and the punching is a habit exercised for the fun of making somebody cry, do we isolate the slapper.

In any case, it is unwise for a grownup to slap a child. There are times when a smart slap seems the only way out, but those times are few and far between and must be indicated clearly. Hasty smacks and slaps are demoralizing to both sides. But you can't cure slaps with slaps. Tit for tat will not work.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

ALLIED VICTORIES

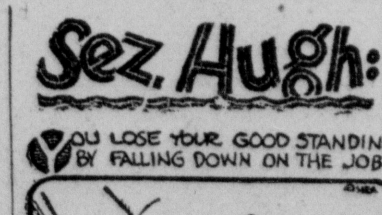

On Aug. 23, 1918, Byng's English troops stormed nine villages north of Albert, advancing more than two miles on a seven-mile front. Fighting in this area was bitter to the extreme and losses were tremendous.

The French Third Army crossed the Divette river near Evricourt and Mangin's troops crossed the Oise near Manicamp, advancing several miles on a wide front.

Americans in Fismes, which they had taken several days before, repulsed three savage attacks by fresh German divisions.

The German army on the western front was under heavy pressure all along the line, and was giving ground constantly in most places.

Allied planes bombed Karlsruhe, killing nine persons and damaging many industrial plants.
